Sent Back To House

Civil Rights Bill Passed By Senate By 71 To 18 Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The civil rights bill was back on the House's doorstep today after being passed by the Senate 71-18.

House leaders of both parties are expected to urge the House to accept the changes made by the Senate in the embattled measure, none of which substantially altered its basic provisions.

This would speed final action by avoiding the necessity of having to set up a Senate-House Conference Committee to compromise the differences.

But even if the House does concur in the Senate amendments, the outlook is that this will not be done until some time after Easter.

In all probability the measure will have to run the gauntlet of the House Rules Committee, headed by Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va), a longtime foe of civil rights measures.

Passage of the bill by the Senate Friday night climaxed a battle that began Feb. 15 and included more than a week of sessions around the clock.

The House had passed its bill 311-109 on March 24.

The measure embodies most, but not all, of President Eisenhower's civil rights proposals, although not exactly as he recommended them.

Its principal feature is provision for the federal courts to register qualified Negroes and enforce their voting rights in areas where judges find systematic discrimination to keep them from the polls.

Another section requires records of all elections for federal officials to be preserved for 22 months and made available to the attorney general for inspection on demand.

The bill also provides criminal penalties for obstructing by force or threats any federal court orders, including those calling for the desegregation of public schools, and for fleeing across state lines to avoid prosecution for bombing schools, churches, or other buildings.

Another section permits the federal government to provide schooling for children of members of the armed forces in areas where the local public schools are closed by disputes over racial integration.

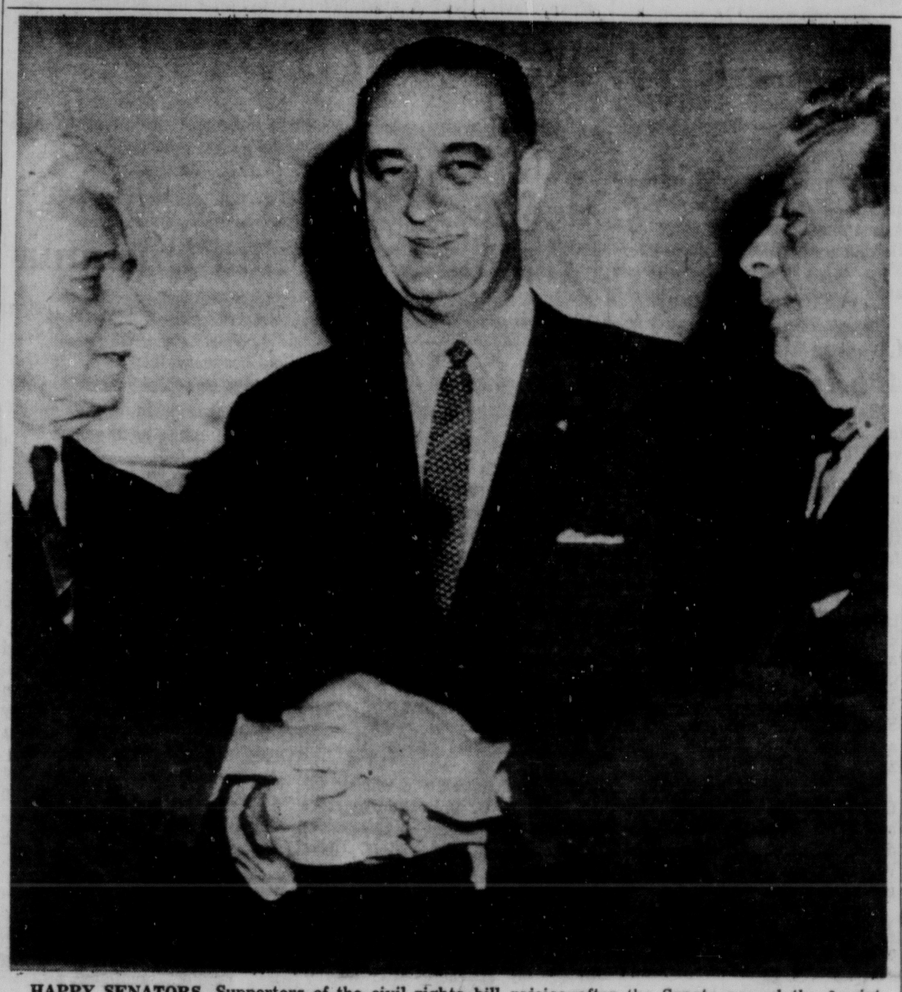
South African Prime Minister Shot In Assassination Attempt



HAPPY SENATORS. Supporters of the civil rights bill rejoice after the Senate passed the 6-point measure Friday following eight weeks of argument and sent the relatively-mild bill to the House. Northern backers of the stronger legislation conceded they were beaten by the South at every turn and many said they were voting for the measure only as being better than nothing. Ike's Letter To Students Cites Castro

Appraisal To Chile Group Says Cubans Have Been Betrayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower says longtime friends of Cuba feel the ideals of its revolution are being betrayed by the government of Fidel Castro.

His frank appraisal was contained Friday in a long letter to Chilean students who had criticized U.S. policies toward Cuba during Eisenhower's visit to Chile.

The Eisenhower letter produced no immediate reaction in Cuba, but observers in Havana felt sure it would provoke a sharp note from Castro's government or a long television speech by the Prime Minister.

The Chilean students had written to Eisenhower that they thought the United States had coddled Latin-American dictators and had not done enough to promote democracy and provide economic aid.

Eisenhower briefly mentioned the criticism in a speech during his Chilean visit, and promised a detailed reply. The 14-page letter, transmitted through the American ambassador in Chile, was that reply. In it, the President sought to clear up what he felt were misconceptions about U.S. policies in Latin America.

"In all candor," the letter added, "I must state that many longtime friends of Cuba in the United States and elsewhere in the hemisphere who were heartened by the ideals expressed by the present leaders of Cuba when they assumed control have been gravely disillusioned by what is coming to be considered a betrayal of these ideals in such matters as freedom of expression, equal protection of the laws, and the right freely to choose a representative form of government."

South Africa Stands Pat On Racial Policy

Says Laws To Stay Despite Resistence, Foreign Pressure

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The South African government declared today neither Negro resistence nor foreign pressure would force a change in its white supremacy laws.

"We will not hand over control of South Africa to a native majority," asserted Foreign Minister Eric Louw in a flat rejection of mounting criticism from abroad against the government's strict segregation policies.

Louw said in an interview with the British Broadcasting Company that there might be minor changes in the hated passbook system imposed on Negroes but that "the basic principles will remain unchanged."

Negro defiance of the passbook laws sparked the violent racial clashes three weeks ago and has brought a harsher government crackdown on African leaders, including the banning of the two most influential African political organizations.

Louw's interview was relayed here by the state-controlled South African Broadcasting System.

The interview was broadcast in the wake of police weapons raids on defiant Negro settlements in a bid to smash threatened underground action.

Some 300 police backed by armored cars swooped down on Pimville, 15 miles southeast of Johannesburg, Friday.

Several hundred persons were arrested as authorities went from house to house seizing battleaxes and other weapons.

The government has about broken the back of the Negro stay-home strike and jailed most top African leaders but there is no indication of a let up in the raids.

A challenge came from Mangaliso Sobukwe, imprisoned president of the militant Pan Africanist Congress, who warned "We are going underground."

The PAC, which boasts 31,000 members, was outlawed by the Nationalist government Friday, along with the larger and more moderate African National Congress.

The Justice Department warned South African employers they face prosecution if they hire Africans without passes or a valid temporary document.

Condition Reported As Not Critical

Was Viewing Parade With Wife; Member Of Guard Also Hit

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd, an uncompromising architect of South Africa's white supremacy policies, was shot and wounded today by a middle-aged white man. Blood streamed from Verwoerd's head.

The husky blond Prime Minister, 58, became a target, apparently of a .22 caliber pistol, as he sat with his wife on a platform at the Union Exposition to watch a parade of cattle.

A bullet struck him under the right eye. The South African radio said a second shot pierced his cheek. With blood dripping from the right side of his head and his mouth, he fell into the arms of his wife. She wept as she comforted him.

A member of Verwoerd's bodyguard also was reported hit.

The white gunman, about 45 and dressed in a gray herringbone suit, was seized by police and civilians in a wild melee and, apparently badly beaten. He was jailed at the police station on the exposition grounds.

"God help me," he exclaimed.

Members of an ambulance crew bandaged Verwoerd's head and rushed him to a hospital for an immediate operation. The South African Broadcasting Co., announced that his condition was not critical.

At 4:30 p.m., two hours after the shooting, the official radio announced he was conscious and able to speak.

A doctor reporting on his preliminary examination mentioned only one wound. He said a bullet seemed to have struck the cheekbone and glanced away.

The assassination attempt came only a few hours after a government spokesman declared that neither Negro resistance nor foreign pressure would force a change in the white supremacy laws.

Foreign Minister Eric Louw, rejecting mounting criticism abroad, declared "we will not hand over control of South Africa to a native (Negro) majority."

Riots and demonstrations the past three weeks, initially against the hated passbook system imposed on nonwhites, have led to about 80 deaths and hundreds of arrests.

Security police took special precautions for Verwoerd's appearance before a capacity crowd today at the exposition grounds in Johannesburg's Milner Park. Without incident, he delivered a half-hour speech opening the farm and trade fair marking the 50th anniversary of the Union of South Africa.

"No country in the world can tread on the corpse of a fellow nation," Verwoerd said. "We shall fight for our existence and we shall survive."

Verwoerd said South Africa is the dark continent's most developed country—"prepared to serve in Africa and cooperate with any state in the world, white or black."

But, he added, "we believe that our good fellowship in industrial life should be reciprocated."

The Prime Minister said the history of South Africa was one of crisis after crisis, but out of every crisis was born greater achievement. What South Africa is experiencing today will mean not defeat but greater progress in every sphere of the nation's life, he said.

He did not refer directly to the current racial crisis.

The gray-haired executive, 6 feet 2, strolled away from the stand for a while to look over cattle entries, sturdy breeds that are the pride of South African farmers.

Higher Phone Rates Sought For Hancock

C. & P. Request Also Applies To Rest Of State It Serves

Telephone bills in West Virginia, including Hancock County, may be going up.

The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. is asking for increases that would average a dollar a month.

All in all, it wants to collect $5,539,000 more a year from its third of a million customers in the state.

The range of the increases for home telephones would be from 70 cents to $1.75 and for business telephones from $1 to $3.95.

Any increase finally authorized would apply to Hancock County subscribers served by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. of East Liverpool, as its rates in Chester and Newell and other areas of the C. & P. system follow the West Virginia schedule.

The C. & P. said, in making its application Friday with the Public Service Commission at Charleston that the new rates were needed because it has been losing money.

It estimated the net it would realize from them at something less than half their total, or $2,536,862 a year. The idea is to bring its rate of return up to 7.05 per cent.

Along with the increases, there would be extensions of local service, making it possible to place more calls by dialing and without paying a toll charge.

This would be accomplished in some cities by taking suburbs and other outlying areas into local exchanges.

Elsewhere the extensions would link separate localities which have a community of interest and between which there are many calls. Put on the same exchange would be New Cumberland and Weirton, Beech Bottom, Wellsburg, Bethany and Zones I and II of Wheeling.

W. M. Ellinghaus, C. & P. vice president, made this statement:

"We have made this filing no earlier and in no larger amount than is necessary to enable us to properly discharge our public responsibility. In view of our poor profit performance in the past and the likelihood of a continuation of inflationary trends, we are requestioning that the commission recognize the need for an improved rate of return."

Council Approves Vote In Chester's Primary

Chester City Council canvassed and approved the results of Tuesday's primary at a special meeting Friday night at City Hall.

The results were made a part of the official minutes. Council also voted that all candidates whose names had been approved to appear on the primary ballot and who received the greatest number of votes, with the exception of those in Ward 5 where a recount is due, be placed on the general election ballot June 7.

Percy Willison, Republican Fifth Ward candidate for Council, who lost the nomination to Willis Bishop by one vote, requested the recount, which will be held Monday night.

U.S. Officials See Hope Dim In Arms Talks

Herter Says Mr. K May Suggest Plans To Break Deadlock

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials have about given up hope of breaking the new deadlock in disarmament negotiations with the Soviet Union prior to next month's summit conference.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter thinks that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev may be planning to come up with "some kind of idea" at the Paris summit meeting to get negotiations moving again. But he finds the present situation "puzzling."

Herter appears to be trying to build up Western pressure to prevent the Soviet Union from stirring up a new Berlin crisis at the summit by linking the Berlin issue with the possibility of successful disarmament negotiations.

He told a news conference Friday a big East-West clash at the summit over Berlin might very materially prejudice further progress on disarmament, specifically the nuclear test ban problem.

That was the second time he had issued such a warning. In a Chicago speech last Monday he said the Western powers "can hardly move forward confidently in negotiating new arms control agreements with the Soviet Union if our existing agreements with them about Berlin meanwhile are being violated or threatened with violation."

Herter disclosed that the deadlocked 10-nation disarmament conference at Geneva probably will be recessed soon until after the summit gathering which opens May 16.

Warren Youth Given 10-25 Years In Holdup

LISBON — James H. Maras, 20, of Warren was sentenced Friday afternoon to 10-25 years at the Ohio State Penitentiary by Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard for participating in the Barnett's Motel holdup Dec. 11. He was convicted by a jury March 31.

A motion for a new trial was overruled after Atty. Francis X. Diana took the witness stand in his client's behalf, explaining why he failed to file for a new trial within the three-day limit. The attorney claimed illness kept him home until April 4, so Judge Buzzard heard the motion.

Atty. Diana said he will file another motion for new trial, claiming newly discovered evidence he couldn't produce at the jury trial. He has 120 days in which to file this evidence.

Maras was identified as one of three robbers who held up Mr. and Mrs. Nick Rini and Miss Berger in the motel near Salem, taking over $650 in cash. Maras claimed he was at home with a cold that night.

Arctic Blast Pushes Cold Deep In U.S.

Flood Victims Along Mississippi Hoping Waters Will Recede

By The Associated Press

An arctic blast pushed unseasonal cold deeper into the north-central United States today while flood victims along the Mississippi River worked up an impatient sweat waiting for the mighty waters to recede.

International Falls, Minn., reported 14 degrees above, Duluth, Minn., 18 above. Milwaukee, Chicago and Detroit also registered subfreezing temperatures.

However, considerable cloudiness and brisk winds were expected to quell the threat of a serious killing frost.

Thundershowers with locally heavy rains and occasional hail settled in northern Texas. The Gulf States and New England were peppered with showers.

Actors' Strike Comes To End After 33 Days

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The actors' strike is over and the back-to-work call is out for Bing Crosby and Marilyn Monroe, along with other stars and about 6,000 members of the production crews.

After several suspenseful periods when agreement had seemed near, Hollywood's first strike by actors ended Friday in its 33rd day. Negotiators for the Screen Actors Guild and the Assn. of Motion Picture Producers announced they had come to terms on a new three-year contract.

The contract agreed on will give motion picture actors their first pension plan—plus a share in proceeds from sale to television of films made after last Jan. 31.

The actors accepted the pension plan instead of insisting on a share of television profits on films made between 1948 and 1960. The agreement means major studios can release films from the four-year period without further payment to actors.

Club Tax Bill Signed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has signed into law a bill to reduce night club and cabaret taxes from 20 to 10 per cent, effective May 1.

Castro Putting 'Stranglehold' On Cuba Press

10 Of Havana's 14 Independent Papers Out Of Business

HAVANA (AP) — The revolutionary Cuba of Fidel Castro has become a journalistic graveyard for the nation's independent Spanish-language press.

Ten of Havana's 14 independent newspapers refusing to toe the Castro line have folded in the past few months.

Veteran Cuban newsmen predict the remaining four, struggling under constant government and economic pressures, soon will collapse, leaving the field to pro-Castro organs.

The bearded Prime Minister has no press opposition in Cuba outside Havana. Independent papers in the provinces disappeared almost as fast as ex-President Fulgencio Batista's army.

American newspapers and magazines still are available and a few Florida radio stations can be heard here. So can the Voice of America by those owning short-wave radios.

Beaver Falls Liquor Store Bandits Get $358

Two armed bandits held up the State Liquor Store on 7th Ave., Beaver Falls, during the Friday night shopping period and escaped with $358.84.

They entered the store about 8:30 and announced that it was a "stick up." Four customers were lined up against the wall.

Police still are investigating the armed robbery at the Craft service station in Industry yesterday morning in which $107 was taken. A first estimate was $70 to $80.

State and county police are investigating both.

International Falls, Minn., reported 14 degrees above, Duluth, Minn., 18 above. Milwaukee, Chicago and Detroit also registered subfreezing temperatures.

However, considerable cloudiness and brisk winds were expected to quell the threat of a serious killing frost.

Thundershowers with locally heavy rains and occasional hail settled in northern Texas. The Gulf States and New England were peppered with showers.

Actors' Strike Comes To End After 33 Days

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The actors' strike is over and the back-to-work call is out for Bing Crosby and Marilyn Monroe, along with other stars and about 6,000 members of the production crews.

After several suspenseful periods when agreement had seemed near, Hollywood's first strike by actors ended Friday in its 33rd day. Negotiators for the Screen Actors Guild and the Assn. of Motion Picture Producers announced they had come to terms on a new three-year contract.

The contract agreed on will give motion picture actors their first pension plan—plus a share in proceeds from sale to television of films made after last Jan. 31.

The actors accepted the pension plan instead of insisting on a share of television profits on films made between 1948 and 1960. The agreement means major studios can release films from the four-year period without further payment to actors.

Castro Putting 'Stranglehold' On Cuba Press

10 Of Havana's 14 Independent Papers Out Of Business

HAVANA (AP) — The revolutionary Cuba of Fidel Castro has become a journalistic graveyard for the nation's independent Spanish-language press.

Ten of Havana's 14 independent newspapers refusing to toe the Castro line have folded in the past few months.

Veteran Cuban newsmen predict the remaining four, struggling under constant government and economic pressures, soon will collapse, leaving the field to pro-Castro organs.

The bearded Prime Minister has no press opposition in Cuba outside Havana. Independent papers in the provinces disappeared almost as fast as ex-President Fulgencio Batista's army.

American newspapers and magazines still are available and a few Florida radio stations can be heard here. So can the Voice of America by those owning short-wave radios.

State and county police are investigating both.

Wellsville Class Play Draws Crowd Of 300

300 At Opening Performance Of High School Senior Play

By CLARA HALL

Strange sounds from outer space, flying saucers and a "tranquilized" calico cat formed the background of the plot for "Visit to a Small Planet," the annual play of the Senior Class of East Liverpool High School presented Friday night at Westgate Auditorium. Some 300 attended.

Mike Alpern as Kreton, visitor from another planet but dressed in Civil War attire, is a riot as he performs his mind - reading stunts and offers soliloquies to the cat.

The role of Gen. Tom Powers is played to perfection by John Fickle, who acts in the best "West Point" manner. Jerry Croft, playing the part of the broadcaster, Roger Spelding, whose predictions are always fouled up, adds lively touches to the story concerning the plans of the "space visitor" who wants to set up the war he has missed by coming down a hundred years too late.

Kaye Davis gives a good performance as the wife of Spelding, trying to sooth the family subjected to the fantasies of the visitor.

The romantic angle, in the hands of pretty Marlene Weinbren and dapper Bob Patterson, produces much laughter as the couple manages to overcome many obstacles and finally are married.

The supporting roles are well handled by Darrell Smith as the general's aide; Jack Putnam, as an audio technician; Roy Grimes, video technician, and James Locke, Delton 4, a leader of the other planet who arrives to take Kreton home.

Highlights are the television broadcast, complete with camera and monitor, the old - time song reminiscing of Alpern, trying to invoke a patriotic streak in the men, and again when he is joined for a duet with Fickle, and the magic flower vase lifting scene.

The production staff deserves praise for the well - co-ordinated sound effects, including the tape-recorded thoughts of the cast and the arrival of the space ships, highlighted by green flares.

This was the initial offering of Keith Langdon, speech-arts teacher.

The final performance will be 8:15 tonight. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Meeting Will Try To Solve Crossing Protection Dilemma

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State and railroad officials will meet May 10 in an attempt to solve the dilemma of where in the state should railroad crossing protection devices be placed.

At present the Highway Department has sorted all unprotected or inadequately protected crossings into priorities—priority 1 for the potentially most dangerous, etc.

The department is forbidden by law from using state funds to provide protection at the more dangerous crossings, but it has accepted bids on continuously-flashing warning signs. It plans to erect these at about 50 second-priority crossings on the state highway system outside cities.

However, the Public Utilities Commission is ordering the 39 railroads which operate in Ohio to install automatic protection at crossings far down the highway department's list of priorities. These orders have resulted from complaints by school officials and others about the crossings.

The railroads protest that they must install devices costing $8,000 to $35,000 at these low priority crossings and therefore don't have as much to spend on the first priority ones.

The department's warning signs, which are considered to be something like modified stop signs, are expected to cost about $105 each. They will be provided to counties, townships and other political subdivisions which will pay the cost of installation and maintenance.

This is not considered using state money for crossing protection because they are merely warning signs, not activated by an oncoming train or setting off automatic gates or the like.

Man Admits He Strangled Former University Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police say a husky young ex-carnival worker who admitted beating and strangling a former university president in a cheap-rate hotel seems "totally unconcerned about the whole thing."

Owen, former president of Bradley University, Peoria, Ill., was manager of the Santa Cruz, Calif., Chamber of Commerce at the time of his death. He had come here to testify before a congressional committee in support of a small craft harbor at Santa Cruz.

Owen's nude body was found Thursday in a third-floor walkup room of a downtown hotel 10 blocks from the Capitol. He was registered at a better hotel. The body was identified through FBI fingerprint files.

Owen resigned as president of Bradley eight years ago after a basketball fix scandal involving members of the university team. He was married and had no children.

Van Over, 6 feet 4, was arrested Friday through a tip. Police said the informant told them Van Over showed his battered fists and said "Boy, did I work that guy over."

Van Over was held without bail on a first-degree murder charge.

Van Over said he and his 18-year-old wife, Lois, had come here from Tampa, Fla., about three weeks ago.

Wellsville Class Play Draws Crowd Of 300

300 At Opening Performance Of High School Senior Play

By CLARA HALL

Strange sounds from outer space, flying saucers and a "tranquilized" calico cat formed the background of the plot for "Visit to a Small Planet," the annual play of the Senior Class of East Liverpool High School presented Friday night at Westgate Auditorium. Some 300 attended.

Mike Alpern as Kreton, visitor from another planet but dressed in Civil War attire, is a riot as he performs his mind - reading stunts and offers soliloquies to the cat.

The role of Gen. Tom Powers is played to perfection by John Fickle, who acts in the best "West Point" manner. Jerry Croft, playing the part of the broadcaster, Roger Spelding, whose predictions are always fouled up, adds lively touches to the story concerning the plans of the "space visitor" who wants to set up the war he has missed by coming down a hundred years too late.

The romantic angle, in the hands of pretty Marlene Weinbren and dapper Bob Patterson, produces much laughter as the couple manages to overcome many obstacles and finally are married.

The supporting roles are well handled by Darrell Smith as the general's aide; Jack Putnam, as an audio technician; Roy Grimes, video technician, and James Locke, Delton 4, a leader of the other planet who arrives to take Kreton home.

Highlights are the television broadcast, complete with camera and monitor, the old - time song reminiscing of Alpern, trying to invoke a patriotic streak in the men, and again when he is joined for a duet with Fickle, and the magic flower vase lifting scene.

The production staff deserves praise for the well - co-ordinated sound effects, including the tape-recorded thoughts of the cast and the arrival of the space ships, highlighted by green flares.

This was the initial offering of Keith Langdon, speech-arts teacher.

The final performance will be 8:15 tonight. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Meeting Will Try To Solve Crossing Protection Dilemma

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State and railroad officials will meet May 10 in an attempt to solve the dilemma of where in the state should railroad crossing protection devices be placed.

At present the Highway Department has sorted all unprotected or inadequately protected crossings into priorities—priority 1 for the potentially most dangerous, etc.

The department is forbidden by law from using state funds to provide protection at the more dangerous crossings, but it has accepted bids on continuously-flashing warning signs. It plans to erect these at about 50 second-priority crossings on the state highway system outside cities.

However, the Public Utilities Commission is ordering the 39 railroads which operate in Ohio to install automatic protection at crossings far down the highway department's list of priorities. These orders have resulted from complaints by school officials and others about the crossings.

The railroads protest that they must install devices costing $8,000 to $35,000 at these low priority crossings and therefore don't have as much to spend on the first priority ones.

The department's warning signs, which are considered to be something like modified stop signs, are expected to cost about $105 each. They will be provided to counties, townships and other political subdivisions which will pay the cost of installation and maintenance.

This is not considered using state money for crossing protection because they are merely warning signs, not activated by an oncoming train or setting off automatic gates or the like.

Man Admits He Strangled Former University Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police say a husky young ex-carnival worker who admitted beating and strangling a former university president in a cheap-rate hotel seems "totally unconcerned about the whole thing."

Owen, former president of Bradley University, Peoria, Ill., was manager of the Santa Cruz, Calif., Chamber of Commerce at the time of his death. He had come here to testify before a congressional committee in support of a small craft harbor at Santa Cruz.

Owen's nude body was found Thursday in a third-floor walkup room of a downtown hotel 10 blocks from the Capitol. He was registered at a better hotel. The body was identified through FBI fingerprint files.

Owen resigned as president of Bradley eight years ago after a basketball fix scandal involving members of the university team. He was married and had no children.

Van Over, 6 feet 4, was arrested Friday through a tip. Police said the informant told them Van Over showed his battered fists and said "Boy, did I work that guy over."

Van Over was held without bail on a first-degree murder charge.

Van Over said he and his 18-year-old wife, Lois, had come here from Tampa, Fla., about three weeks ago.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

child may be taught to read, it will be to his advantage to know the ABCs before he begins the first grade.

This is so, despite advice to the contrary by some teachers and "reading experts". In recent months and years there have appeared numerous studies supporting my first statement. Besides, it has the support of your own common sense. Watch a child playing with alphabet blocks have the same letter or different single ones on each side. Attracted on this letter, the tot, three or four, may ask the name of it. When he is told its name, it may be great fun for him to find a letter just like it on a page of large print.

By Garry Meyer.

WHEN THIS is done, it should be done leisurely and without suggestion that it is a lesson, or that he will be tested and disapproved if he makes a mistake.

Better to have your child learn first only the small (lower case) letters. He will need them most as he begins to read or spell. After he has learned the names of each small letter (preferably out of alphabetical order) it's easy for him to learn the same as a capital (upper case) letter.

Just print or type them side by side, the capital letter to the right of the other (like this: a—A). Then he sees that the two forms of the same letter have the same name. Proceed in this fashion, whether your child is in the second grade, first grade, or only four or five years old.

GO SLOW AND easy. Most parents try to have the child, be he five or seven, try to learn a great many letters at a sitting. The result is confusion, many mistakes and consequent discouragement and loss of interest. Better to have him master one letter at a sitting than to have him "mess over many".

As vowels usually are more easily confused than consonants, he had better learn the latter first.

If you can print well, print just one letter, large and bold, on a page or a card. If you have a typewriter, use that.

Later, the child will take to type this letter and, still later, after he has learned several letters, to type each as you name it. But remember, you shouldn't have him do too many. Have him dwell on each new one until he knows it well before he attacks another.

My bulletins, "Letting Baby and Tot Learn" and "Helping Child at Home in Early Steps of Reading," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

6 Join Army During March

Four area men were among six who enlisted for three years of duty in the Army during March, according to Sgt. Emuel Bosley, recruiter.

They selected assignments of their choice under a new Army program. Sgt. Bosley said three were sent to Ft. Knox, Ky., for processing and training as recruits. The other three were veterans and re-enlisted as career men, he added.

Enlisting from East Liverpool were Harry E. McCune Jr., son of Mrs. Helen L. McCune, 405 3rd St., and James E. Beaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Beaver of R. D. 2.

James G. Smith Jr., son of Mrs. Edda Vernor, 219 E. Washington St., and John L. England, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. England, 296 W. High St., enlisted from Lisbon.

McCune selected the armored forces for his assignment and is training at Ft. Knox. He first enlisted in the Army in 1954 and served 3 years. Beaver was enlisted as an unassigned recruit and will select his assignment after interviewing at Ft. Knox.

England, who served in Europe on his first enlistment, selected the intelligence branch and will attend school at Ft. Hollibird, Md. He is a former employe of the Lisbon Post Office.

Smith enlisted as unassigned, Sgt. Bosley reported. Pittsburgh enlistees were Ronald H. Dengler and John M. Miller.

Fascist Bloc Supports New Italian Chief

ROME (AP) — Premier Fernando Tambroni's two - week - old Christian Democrat government won its first parliamentary vote of confidence, but only with Fascist backing that could prove a kiss of death.

In a midnight vote Friday, the Chamber of Deputies endorsed Tambroni's stop-gap regime 300-293. The margin of victory was provided by 24 Fascist ballots.

Within an hour two Cabinet ministers quit rather than serve in a government dependent on Fascist backing. They were Guilio Pastore, leader of the Christian Democrat left wing who served as minister for southern Italy, and Nullo Biggi, undersecretary for industry.

The Christian Democrats have 272 seats in the chamber and four independents backed them. Without the 24 Fascist votes the government never would have survived the combined opposition of Communists, left-wing Socialists, Democratic Socialists, Liberals and Monarchists.

Tambroni, a 58-year-old lawyer, ignored a demand by his party's left wing that he publicly reject Fascist votes. In his reply to the week-long debate leading up to the vote he was silent on what he would do about Fascist support. But the Cabinet resignations might force him to take a stand.

Margaret's Honeymoon Ship $2,800 Per Day

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret and Anthony Armstrong-Jones have chosen a controversial ship for their sailing honeymoon. Cost: 1,000 pounds ($2,800) a day, plus food.

The Princess and her ex-photographer fiance are booked to spend their first wedding nights aboard the royal yacht Britannia, one of the few regal trappings which make Britons wonder whether royalty is worth it.

It cost 2 million pounds ($5,600,000) of the taxpayers' money to build and takes a minimum of 7,000 pounds ($19,600) a week to run.

The Britannia will set sail under sealed orders when the Princess and her husband come aboard after their May 6 wedding. The West Indies or the Mediterranean, or perhaps both, are tipped for the honeymoon destination.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

child may be taught to read, it will be to his advantage to know the ABCs before he begins the first grade.

By Garry Meyer.

This is so, despite advice to the contrary by some teachers and "reading experts". In recent months and years there have appeared numerous studies supporting my first statement. Besides, it has the support of your own common sense. Watch a child playing with alphabet blocks have the same letter or different single ones on each side. Attracted on this letter, the tot, three or four, may ask the name of it. When he is told its name, it may be great fun for him to find a letter just like it on a page of large print.

WHEN THIS is done, it should be done leisurely and without suggestion that it is a lesson, or that he will be tested and disapproved if he makes a mistake.

Better to have your child learn first only the small (lower case) letters. He will need them most as he begins to read or spell. After he has learned the names of each small letter (preferably out of alphabetical order) it's easy for him to learn the same as a capital (upper case) letter.

Just print or type them side by side, the capital letter to the right of the other (like this: a—A). Then he sees that the two forms of the same letter have the same name. Proceed in this fashion, whether your child is in the second grade, first grade, or only four or five years old.

GO SLOW AND easy. Most parents try to have the child, be he five or seven, try to learn a great many letters at a sitting. The result is confusion, many mistakes and consequent discouragement and loss of interest. Better to have him master one letter at a sitting than to have him "mess over many".

As vowels usually are more easily confused than consonants, he had better learn the latter first.

If you can print well, print just one letter, large and bold, on a page or a card. If you have a typewriter, use that.

Later, the child will take to type this letter and, still later, after he has learned several letters, to type each as you name it. But remember, you shouldn't have him do too many. Have him dwell on each new one until he knows it well before he attacks another.

My bulletins, "Letting Baby and Tot Learn" and "Helping Child at Home in Early Steps of Reading," may be had by sending a self - addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Anderson, chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, was the principal speaker as the atomic-powered submarine was commissioned.

6 Join Army During March

Four area men were among six who enlisted for three years of duty in the Army during March, according to Sgt. Emuel Bosley, recruiter.

They selected assignments of their choice under a new Army program. Sgt. Bosley said three were sent to Ft. Knox, Ky., for processing and training as recruits. The other three were veterans and re-enlisted as career men, he added.

Enlisting from East Liverpool were Harry E. McCune Jr., son of Mrs. Helen L. McCune, 405 3rd St., and James E. Beaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Beaver of R. D. 2.

James G. Smith Jr., son of Mrs. Edda Vernor, 219 E. Washington St., and John L. England, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. England, 296 W. High St., enlisted from Lisbon.

McCune selected the armored forces for his assignment and is training at Ft. Knox. He first enlisted in the Army in 1954 and served 3 years. Beaver was enlisted as an unassigned recruit and will select his assignment after interviewing at Ft. Knox.

England, who served in Europe on his first enlistment, selected the intelligence branch and will attend school at Ft. Hollibird, Md. He is a former employe of the Lisbon Post Office.

Smith enlisted as unassigned, Sgt. Bosley reported. Pittsburgh enlistees were Ronald H. Dengler and John M. Miller.

Suspect In Knifing Posts $5,000 Bond

An East End man, arrested in connection with the slashing of a 20-year-old West End youth during a street brawl in front of the Veterans Social Club, 1044 Pennsylvania Ave., was released from City Jail this morning after posting a $5,000 property bond.

Ronald Roach of 1st Ave. was taken into custody Friday night by police on a warrant filed by Walter C. Hicks, 229 W. 8th St., charging assault with a deadly weapon.

Roach will be given a hearing Monday before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Hicks filed the charge as the aftermath of a fight Thursday night when he said he was slashed on the right temple with a switchblade knife wielded by Roach. Eleven stitches were required to close the gash.

Fascist Bloc Supports New Italian Chief

ROME (AP) — Premier Fernando Tambroni's two - week - old Christian Democrat government won its first parliamentary vote of confidence, but only with Fascist backing that could prove a kiss of death.

In a midnight vote Friday, the Chamber of Deputies endorsed Tambroni's stop-gap regime 300-293. The margin of victory was provided by 24 Fascist ballots.

Within an hour two Cabinet ministers quit rather than serve in a government dependent on Fascist backing. They were Guilio Pastore, leader of the Christian Democrat left wing who served as minister for southern Italy, and Nullo Biggi, undersecretary for industry.

The Christian Democrats have 272 seats in the chamber and four independents backed them. Without the 24 Fascist votes the government never would have survived the combined opposition of Communists, left-wing Socialists, Democratic Socialists, Liberals and Monarchists.

Tambroni, a 58-year-old lawyer, ignored a demand by his party's left wing that he publicly reject Fascist votes. In his reply to the week-long debate leading up to the vote he was silent on what he would do about Fascist support. But the Cabinet resignations might force him to take a stand.

Margaret's Honeymoon Ship $2,800 Per Day

LONDON (AP)—Princess Margaret and Anthony Armstrong-Jones have chosen a controversial ship for their sailing honeymoon. Cost: 1,000 pounds ($2,800) a day, plus food.

The Princess and her ex-photographer fiance are booked to spend their first wedding nights aboard the royal yacht Britannia, one of the few regal trappings which make Britons wonder whether royalty is worth it.

It cost 2 million pounds ($5,600,000) of the taxpayers' money to build and takes a minimum of 7,000 pounds ($19,600) a week to run.

The Britannia will set sail under sealed orders when the Princess and her husband come aboard after their May 6 wedding. The West Indies or the Mediterranean, or perhaps both, are tipped for the honeymoon destination.

Best Solution To Tough Problems

Gov. DiSalle has found himself more and more on the spot lately in his efforts to stamp out commercialized crime in Ohio.

Despite the sincerity of his intentions, he has been embarrassed by reports of continued gambling and vice operations in what have been traditionally the most wide-open counties in the state.

Some of the resulting criticism that has been aimed at the DiSalle administration is unjustified. The greater injustice, however, is that the flurry of angry controversy distracts attention from the real issue that faces the people of Ohio:

The state does not have the police authority to do the job even when it wants to.

Gov. DiSalle has stated repeatedly that he does not favor the creation of a state police force. Yet, the sum of his explanations for why he has not been more effective in his attack on racketeering makes the best argument for one.

He has emphasized, with a Legislative Service Commission report to back him up, that Ohio statutes give local officials primary responsibility for enforcing all laws, including state laws.

But this does not solve the problem created by local officials who willfully or unwittingly do not accept that responsibility.

GOV. DiSALLE has tried to use publicity as a weapon against complacence. It has not worked, notably in Jefferson and Belmont counties, primarily because the publicity did not reveal anything that was not already common knowledge.

The state can move, through the attorney general's office, to conduct its own investigation, as has been done in Stark County at the request of a former grand jury foreman.

But this has a number of drawbacks, as the governor himself has conceded.

One is that it is a cumbersome process which, if it cleans up a stained county at all, is likely to provide only a temporary cure.

Another drawback is that the attorney general's staff and funds are limited and the attorney general has many other legal duties to perform for the state. It is doubtful he could be expected to conduct more than one thorough investigation at a time, and that is not an effective way to stamp out—permanently—all the racketeering in the entire state.

THE GOVERNOR may use both the State Highway Patrol and the liquor enforcement division.

The patrol is a model organization in terms of morale, ability, training and integrity. But its authority to act is limited to state highways and state property.

The liquor enforcement division leaves a lot to be desired as an organization, and the governor, through his liquor department chiefs, is trying now to give it a rebirth in the image of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

But upgrading the personnel, desirable as that is, will not solve the division's two basic problems as an antiracketeering police force: (1) It has no authority to act unless the liquor laws are in some way involved. (2) It will still be too small and restricted to do a thorough job where local officials fail.

Recognition of these weaknesses in the state's police power led at least two of Gov. DiSalle's predecessors, Frank J. Lausche and C. William O'Neill, to favor establishment of a state police force. Many other states have turned to such agencies as a way to fight racketeering, including most of those surrounding Ohio.

THERE IS NO DOUBT that a proposal to set up an Ohio police force would meet with opposition, some of it sincerely fearful of a Gestapo-like monster. But the example of the FBI and experience with police forces in other states show that it is possible to create, direct and empower such an agency without falling victim to the perils of a police state.

We appreciate the governor's sincerity in trying to make Ohio clean and keep it that way. We sympathize with the problems he is having.

But we believe that he and his successors will continue to have those problems until the Legislature gives the state the only proper tool to do the job—a state police force.

But What About Mao?

Success at the coming summit meeting in the field of disarmament could be only a partial victory for the world unless some way is found to corral the Chinese maverick, Mao, and his Chinese cohorts.

Messrs. Eisenhower, Macmillan, De Gaulle and Khrushchev may find a common ground to reach a settlement. But what about Mao?

He has been a junior partner in the Communist alliance for many years but there are signs that he is tiring of this role and one sometimes wonders if Mr. K has full control over the Chinese situation.

THE STORY was reported about Mao's antics during his last visit to Moscow when he was guest of honor at a Khrushchev dinner. Although the Red China boss can speak fluent Russian, he preferred to speak in Chinese and use an interpreter. Toward the end of the evening, he told Anastas Mikoyan, the No. 2 Soviet boss, that the next time he visited Moscow he hoped that Khrushchev and Mikoyan could speak Chinese.

Another incident that certainly didn't help Khrushchev was the border scrap with India prior to Nikita's visit to that country.

Reports have filtered out that Peiping rapidly is becoming a Russian political problem instead of a Moscow ally.

Many political realists living on Red China's perimeter see Mao & Co. committed to a policy of political and military aggression which cannot be stopped by any possible summit committments.

RED CHINA has been unable to gain recognition from either the U.N. or the U.S. But before any pact on disarmament is reached she will have to be consulted on her stand. Perhaps she feels this is her chance for that long-awaited recognition.

The Soviet Union never will approve any arms reduction unless Mao is in accord. Although the two are from the same side of the street, there has been a long history of mutual distrust.

Throughout history, Russia has been forced to keep a sharp eye over her shoulder as she moved forward in the world. That Siberian back door is big and it must be guarded at all times.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Women are crying, "Let us at 'em!" as they read court decision that in domestic troubles a husband can legally give heave-ho to wife as a "trespasser" if she sticks around the house. Decision was 3-1, with one judge holding that a stern. "Out of my house, woman!" blitzed chances of reconciliation by the swift never-darken-my-door-again route.

Our missus is with him, declaring firmly last night, "I'm fed up with you. Scram, and just leave me the roof over my head. But remember, I reserve the INALIENABLE RIGHT OF A WOMAN TO CHANGE HER MIND."

"The court 2-1 ruling said I could toss you out with a 'No Trespassing' sign if you were still around the house after two months," we said.

"The woman in that case made the mistake of saying she was willing to move out to shake off all memory of the guy. She conceded a tenant and landlord relationship between a husband and wife. I'm too smart for that," our missus said.

"She put it in writing," we argued.

"What of it? Can a court destroy a woman's privilege to be temperamental and impetuous," she demanded, adding, "if three married high court judges can't reach agreements without a hassle, what chance have the rest of us?"

NOW THAT RED CHINA is claiming ownership of Mt. Everest whose mountain is safe? It has climbed the 29,000 foot peak by edict, wrapped it up by phone and warned all nations to take in its mountains after dark or else.

Other big nations hold meetings at summits. China seizes them. Chou En-lai acts as a minister of mountain peaks and declares Chinese peaks and free world peaks can't coexist except in old movies. (Will Soviet Russia now claim she owns the Matterhorn?)

"Ben Hur" got an Oscar award as the best movie. It took a lot of horse trading. Carleton Heston wasn't among those folks saying, "Wild horses couldn't drag me into one of those award shindigs."

A carpet company is about to merge with outboard motor corporation. At first we thought this promised a rug for use on a wet floor but more likely it will mean a motor that can provide every man with a flying carpet.

Boris Karloff was emcee on a TV program of former popular songs that proved a good tune and an understandable lyric were once all-important. Famed for "monster" roles, Boris may have been chosen, however, to warn public that lovely music is still in danger and that composers of current song hits need to be scared.

Laugh of the Year: Russian delegate to Geneva charming free world with "endless talking."

The Vanderbuilt Cup race is to be revived on small stretch of old Long Island course. When the race was first held in 1904, Long Island was so far away from New York you could greet anybody found there with "Dr. Livingstone, I presume." And car that came close to 60 miles an hour was considered sensational. Now old ladies go to Mothers' Day committee meetings that fast.

Odd Facts

It seems apparent that everyone "wants in on the act," so far as the ever-growing trend towards more frequent and longer vacations in the United States is concerned. Advertising by the states for tourists hit a new high last year when about $6.5 million was spent by individual states in advertising campaigns to lure holiday and vacation travelers.

The manna of the Israelites, mentioned in the Bible, is believed to have been a saccharine substance exuding from the bark of the tamarisk, when the surface was punctured by insects. This substance had a yellowish color and a honey-like odor.

The controversial Mason and Dixon Line, which during the American Civil War was assumed to divide the North from the South, really formed the boundary between only two states — Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Since the invention of the internal combustion engine, more than 4,000 different makes of automobiles have appeared in the markets of the world.

The Power Of Faith

By Howard Brodie

In the Steps of Christ

I feel joyful when I sketch the great events of Palm Sunday. Maybe it is because I once rode down the old Roman road on the Mount of Olives, astride a little donkey borrowed from a friendly farmer in Bethphage. I still recall the crisp, clear air, the whr-r-r-r of a bird on the wing and the blue sky and gentle landscape. It was not hard to imagine that when Jesus was "at the descent of the mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began to rejoice and praise God with a loud voice . . . Saying blessed be the King that cometh in the name of the Lord." (Luke 19:37-8)

Hoffa Eyes Teamster Funds Merger

By Victo r Riesel

Surprisingly, Jim Hoffa believes that the pen is mightier than the sword — the fountain pen, that is. This quaintness springs from Hoffa's easy access to books—check books, that is. He has, therefore, devised a simple plan for creating a billion dollar fund which he could dominate.

Victor Riesel

This billion would be a minimum if Hoffa succeeds. He now is pushing for the merger of all Teamsters pension and welfare monies into "one over-all nationwide operation."

Hoffa, whose daring is matched only by his disdain for those around him, told eastern Teamsters chiefs of this ambition when he was in New York for the intimate Madison Square Garden gathering March 14.

The provisional Teamsters president has corroborated this in recent weeks in reply to communications sent him by his eastern colleagues.

If Hoffa could merge these regional pension and welfare funds today, he would have a pool of almost 800 million dollars, a survey by this column reveals.

There is at least 350 million in the Central Southeast and Southwest Teamsters Conference pension and welfare funds.

THE TEAMSTERS use the word "conference" to mean district. This does not include the millions of dollars in a separate Ohio Teamsters - truckers setup. Nor does it include the millions in the special funds of international Vice President Sandy O'Brien's Chicago local.

There is 200 million in the Teamsters Western Conference funds. And about the same in the Eastern Conference coffers.

Little acorns have nothing on these funds. They grow at the rate of 10 per cent a year — or about 80 million dollars annually after expenses and benefits are paid.

There is no truth to the report that Hoffa plans to issue a charter to Fort Knox. He just doesn't need that old hole in the ground.

Those Teamsters funds are more solvent than the U.S.A. Trucking companies are paying about 180 million dollars a year into the pension and welfare pools. In the West the payments run about two million a month for welfare and two million more for pensions. In the Central area the figure is close to five million for pension and welfare. In the East it runs slightly higher. Add to this the millions more paid by non-trucking firms unionized by the Teamsters.

HOFFA HAS quite a jurisdiction. Since it has never been on the record outside of Teamsters records, here it is in their own words:

"This organization has jurisdiction over all teamsters, chauffeurs, warehousemen and helpers; all who are employed on or around houses, harness carriages, automobiles, trucks, trailers and all other vehicles hauling, carrying or conveying freight, merchandise or materials; automotive sales, service and maintenance employes, garage workers and service station employes, warehousemen of all kinds employed in warehouse work, stockmen, shipping room employes and loaders, that is persons engaged in loading and unloading freight, merchandise, or other materials on to or from any type of vehicle; all classes of dairy employes, inside and outside, including salesmen, brewery and soft drink workers; workers employed in ice cream plants . . .

"All other workers employed in the manufacture, processing, sales and distribution of food, milk, dairy and other products; all truck terminal employes, cannery workers; and other workers where the security of the bargaining position of above classifications requires the organization of such other workers."

At least this leaves outer space. Meanwhile, back here on earth the welfare and pension payments from such jurisdiction could total several hundred million dollars a year.

Only some 60 per cent is spent each year. If Hoffa could dominate the investment of such a pool of cash as he influences his Central fund loans, he could be the biggest unmerged banker in the land in a decade.

All Roads Not Smooth

By Truman Twill

A reader wants this column to take up monkey wrenches in behalf of an organization to do something about chuckholes in this worst of all possible springs. The reader is talking about something whimsical like a Garagemen's Benefit Assn.

But instead of falling into line with whimsy, this column's inclination is to suggest there is something serious to think about in this spring's great twitch and twitter about chuckholes.

To hear the uproar you would think this is the first time the roads ever went to pieces. To listen to the sneers and snorts, you would think road repair crews are at fault for letting frost get into and out of the ground and for permitting so much snow to melt.

It seems not to have occurred to complainers they might as well be squawking about an earthquake, a tornado, a tidal wave, or a drouth—that they are complaining about nature, itself. And that is something to think about. In nature, there is nothing unusual about inconvenience.

Men have become over-accustomed to pampering that an encounter with a frost-riddled street makes them feel like marching on city hall, the governor's mansion, or Washington, D. C. "They can't do this to us!" is the spirit.

Well, "they" can. "They" can send floods and billions of pork-barrel spending for levees, dams, dikes and channel deepening can't stop them.

"They" can send drouth and dust storms and ten thousand times ten thousand politicians introducing resolutions and proposals to spend money can't stop them.

"They" can blow down everything above ground and shake up everything below ground. They can hotten up things until they sizzle and cool them off until they frizzle, Fulton Lewis Jr., or Tommy the Cork can have any effect.

Men forget this at their own risk. Having driven on a superhighway once, they think all roads thereafter should be smooth. Having grown accustomed to snapping their fingers for service, they are nonplused in a situation where finger-snapping does no good.

Their recourse when they get sore is to abuse some public official or public employe for not being Johnny-on-the-Spot with magic. But it does no good to tongue-lash nature.

Things were terrible when everybody knew the roads would be bad in springtime and conducted himself and his life accordingly. But people had one thing in their favor then they don't always have in their favor now.

They knew the score. They did not fly into a frenzy every time they bumped into reality. Life was full of realities.

Nature in the bad old days was not an insult but a challenge. You put up with the inevitable and squawked only about things you were capable of changing for the better. And chuckholes in the roads in spring were inevitable. You changed them for the better when the ground was dry.

Personal Stand On Segregation Sought

Do the various candidates who aspire to the presidency really practice what they preach?

This is a question raised by a reader who feels that, since free speech is being rather rather broadly interpreted nowadays by the Supreme Court to include the distribution of anonymous handbills, a citizen has the right to direct a few anonymous queries to the candidates.

David Lawrence

From a reader in a city in Michigan come these three questions:

"Do the children of the candidates invite playmates into their homes regardless of race, creed or color?

"Do these candidates entertain Negroes in their homes at the same time and on the same level as their white friends?

"In other words, do they practice what they preach?"

The letter then goes on to discuss the background against which the questions are asked:

"I want to be sure that my vote will not help put a man in office who is secretly dedicated to wrecking my way of life. I resent anyone trying to tell me the persons or persons I should associate with just because the courts say he is my social equal. I have always been the judge of that, and I want to go on being the judge of it. I cannot vote for anyone who says I am not.

"I am enclosing an article from one of our newspapers which points up what 'civil rights' have brought to us in Michigan.

"I refer to the case against some motel owners who have been declared by the office of the state attorney general to be 'in violation' of the state's 'civil rights' statutes. Under this ruling, the State Tourists Council has notified the West Michigan Tourists and Resort Assn. that it will not distribute the booklets of that association or its annual guide if they carry the listing of the persons who are accused of violating the statutes."

The clipping, which was from an article in the Grand Rapids "Press," says:

"This has amounted to making the West Michigan Association the punitive 'club' to carry out the ruling of the attorney general.

"Members of the executive committee of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Assn. feel very strongly that it is American principle that no person may be deemed guilty without his day in court.

This the defendants have not had. No complainant to the attorney general's office has brought suit and the attorney general's office has arbitrarily declared them to be 'in violation' without a court hearing of any kind."

THE MICHIGAN reader's letter continues:

"My understanding is that the only 'crime' these people committed was circulating calendars with a Negro's picture on them, the same having been ordered before the state's 'civil rights' bill was passed.

"We, too, own a motel and according to our 'civil rights' laws, if a Negro comes in and we are full up and cannot give him a room, he can go away and report us as having refused him.

We can then be held 'in violation,' without any complaint being lodged against us or without our even knowing that we have been reported. We would have no opportunity to present our side. The penalty is a $10,000 fine or one year in jail, or both. So, you see, we have no 'civil rights.'

"As you will note, the court has been asked to allow any interested parties to intervene but I am sure none will. Public opinion is so much against us that no one dares raise his voice. I must ask you, if you should see fit to use any part of this letter or the clipping, not to make my name public. It could ruin our business. We could be picketed or have a sit-down demonstration and we would have no redress.

"We've always held our standards high in our motel. Yet now Negroes come in and they sit outside and shout back and forth play ball or do anything to attract attention, while white people drive past without stopping and then our motel stands half empty. So, you see the problem is economic as well as social. Again I ask where are our 'civil rights'?

"We are elderly people. We have put our life's savings in this motel. If we lose it because of racial trouble, we are too old to start over."

THE FOREGOING is similar to many other letters that have been received in which people express the opinion that social customs are private customs and that every business should have the right to select its own customers.

Former President Harry Truman, commenting on the "sit-in" demonstrations, has publicly stated that "if someone came into my store and tried to stop business, I'd throw him out." Boycotts have been undertaken as a means of intimidating individuals who believe they have a right to run their own business.

The problem is not confined to the South. Mail received by this correspondent indicates that there are plenty of instances in northern cities where the "civil rights" issue now has become an agitation for the invasion of private rights.

Blessing In Disguise?

By Jay G. Hayden

One sure effect of the Wisconsin primary result is to heighten the argument among Democratic nominating delegates as to the good or ill of Sen. John Kennedy's Catholic faith for ultimate vote garnering.

But the very presence of this argument makes it much more difficult to turn Kennedy down, assuming that he continues the decisive popular victories scored in New Hampshire and Wisconsin.

This is so because even a suspicion that Kennedy was denied the nomination because of his religion almost certainly would turn great numbers of Catholics away from whoever else becomes the Democratic presidential nominee.

It was this same "Catholic or else" conundrum that gave Gov. Alfred E. Smith (D-NY) his easy nomination for president in 1928.

The prime necessity in that case, as the ruling Democratic politicos saw it, was to erase the blot of bigotry cast on their party by its bowing down to the Ku Klux Klan in the nearly three-week-long deadlock of their late previous convention in 1924.

THAT WAS the year also when Ku Klux political influence, coinciding closely with the prevailing constitutional prohibition of the manufacture or sale of anything more alcoholic than 3 per cent beer, was at an all-time peak.

Gov. Smith was Catholic and "wet." McAdoo, with or without his consent, became labeled "Protestant" and "dry."

The clash of ideology was formalized when the resolutions committee, confronted with a proposal to condemn the Ku Klux Klan, found the issue too difficult and passed it on to the whole convention.

Thus occurred one of the most amazing verdicts in partisan history. After an all-night debate, the vote of the convention was announced at 5 a.m.: 541 in favor of denunciation of the Ku Klux Klan to 542 against. Thus, by a margin of one vote, the Democratic party tagged itself with the Ku Klux label.

Thereupon the convention balloted 102 times with Smith and McAdoo barring each other from the required two-thirds. On the 103rd ballot John W. Davis of New York, a Smith supporter, was nominated for president with Charles Bryan, brother of the Ku Klux and "dry" leader, William Jennings Bryan, hooked on for vice president.

THE FOLLOWING November that ticket went down to overwhelming defeat at the hands of the Republican combination of Calvin Coolidge for president and Charles Dawes for vice president.

In 1928 the Democratic party offered a comparable compromise but with Smith the presidential nominee and Sen. Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Dixiecrat and "dry," the vice-presidential running mate.

Again the Republican ticket of Herbert Hoover and Charles Curtis won handily. Smith and Robinson lost four southern states—Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Texas — and north of the Mason and Dixon line won only Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

According to an analysis by the highly objective and bipartisan Milwaukee Journal, there was a marked crossing-over in Wisconsin by Catholic republicans Tuesday in behalf of Senator Kennedy, and comparable Protestant diversions to the support of Senator Humphrey.

As a Republican, sure of nomination, Vice President Nixon conceivably suffered both ways.

There is a strong consensus among political experts of both parties that Senator Kennedy's catholicism will prove a benefit for the final election in northeastern industrial states such as Ohio, Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin, and in California on the west coast the equation is figured about even.

But throughout the south and its border states and in the agricultural middle west symptoms of anti-Catholic leanings heretofore have seemed strong.

Best Solution To Tough Problems

Gov. DiSalle has found himself more and more on the spot lately in his efforts to stamp out commercialized crime in Ohio.

Despite the sincerity of his intentions, he has been embarrassed by reports of continued gambling and vice operations in what have been traditionally the most wide-open counties in the state.

Some of the resulting criticism that has been aimed at the DiSalle administration is unjustified. The greater injustice, however, is that the flurry of angry controversy distracts attention from the real issue that faces the people of Ohio:

The state does not have the police authority to do the job even when it wants to.

Gov. DiSalle has stated repeatedly that he does not favor the creation of a state police force. Yet, the sum of his explanations for why he has not been more effective in his attack on racketeering makes the best argument for one.

He has emphasized, with a Legislative Service Commission report to back him up, that Ohio statutes give local officials primary responsibility for enforcing all laws, including state laws.

But this does not solve the problem created by local officials who willfully or unwittingly do not accept that responsibility.

GOV. DISALLE has tried to use publicity as a weapon against complacence. It has not worked, notably in Jefferson and Belmont counties, primarily because the publicity did not reveal anything that was not already common knowledge.

The state can move, through the attorney general's office, to conduct its own investigation, as has been done in Stark County at the request of a former grand jury foreman.

But this has a number of drawbacks, as the governor himself has conceded.

One is that it is a cumbersome process which, if it cleans up a stained county at all, is likely to provide only a temporary cure.

Another drawback is that the attorney general's staff and funds are limited and the attorney general has many other legal duties to perform for the state. It is doubtful he could be expected to conduct more than one thorough investigation at a time, and that is not an effective way to stamp out—permanently—all the racketeering in the entire state.

THE GOVERNOR may use both the State Highway Patrol and the liquor enforcement division.

The patrol is a model organization in terms of morale, ability, training and integrity. But its authority to act is limited to state highways and state property.

The liquor enforcement division leaves a lot to be desired as an organization, and the governor, through his liquor department chiefs, is trying now to give it a rebirth in the image of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

But upgrading the personnel, desirable as that is, will not solve the division's two basic problems as an antiracketeering police force: (1) It has no authority to act unless the liquor laws are in some way involved. (2) It will still be too small and restricted to do a thorough job where local officials fail.

Recognition of these weaknesses in the state's police power led at least two of Gov. DiSalle's predecessors, Frank J. Lausche and C. William O'Neill, to favor establishment of a state police force. Many other states have turned to such agencies as a way to fight racketeering, including most of those surrounding Ohio.

THERE IS NO DOUBT that a proposal to set up an Ohio police force would meet with opposition, some of it sincerely fearful of a Gestapo-like monster. But the example of the FBI and experience with police forces in other states show that it is possible to create, direct and empower such an agency without falling victim to the perils of a police state.

We appreciate the governor's sincerity in trying to make Ohio clean and keep it that way. We sympathize with the problems he is having.

But we believe that he and his successors will continue to have those problems until the Legislature gives the state the only proper tool to do the job—a state police force.

But What About Mao?

Success at the coming summit meeting in the field of disarmament could be only a partial victory for the world unless some way is found to corral the Chinese maverick, Mao, and his Chinese cohorts.

Messrs. Eisenhower, Macmillan, De Gaulle and Khrushchev may find a common ground to reach a settlement. But what about Mao?

He has been a junior partner in the Communist alliance for many years but there are signs that he is tiring of this role and one sometimes wonders if Mr. K has full control over the Chinese situation.

THE STORY was reported about Mao's antics during his last visit to Moscow when he was guest of honor at a Khrushchev dinner. Although the Red China boss can speak fluent Russian, he preferred to speak in Chinese and use an interpreter. Toward the end of the evening, he told Anastas Mikoyan, the No. 2 Soviet boss, that the next time he visited Moscow he hoped that Khrushchev and Mikoyan could speak Chinese.

Another incident that certainly didn't help Khrushchev was the border scrap with India prior to Nikita's visit to that country.

Reports have filtered out that Peiping rapidly is becoming a Russian political problem instead of a Moscow ally.

Many political realists living on Red China's perimeter see Mao & Co. committed to a policy of political and military aggression which cannot be stopped by any possible summit committments.

RED CHINA has been unable to gain recognition from either the U.N. or the U.S. But before any pact on disarmament is reached she will have to be consulted on her stand. Perhaps she feels this is her chance for that long-awaited recognition.

The Soviet Union never will approve any arms reduction unless Mao is in accord. Although the two are from the same side of the street, there has been a long history of mutual distrust.

Throughout history, Russia has been forced to keep a sharp eye over her shoulder as she moved forward in the world. That Siberian back door is big and it must be guarded at all times.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Women are crying, "Let us at 'em!" as they read court decision that in domestic troubles a husband can legally give heave-ho to wife as a "trespasser" if she sticks around the house. Decision was 3-1, with one judge holding that a stern, "Out of my house, woman!" blitzed chances of reconciliation by the swift never-darken-my-door-again route.

Our missus is with him, declaring firmly last night, "I'm fed up with you. Scram, and just leave me the roof over my head. But remember, I reserve the INALIENABLE RIGHT OF A WOMAN TO CHANGE HER MIND."

"The court 2-1 ruling said I could toss you out with a 'No Trespassing' sign if you were still around the house after two months," we said.

"The woman in that case made the mistake of saying she was willing to move out to shake off all memory of the guy. She conceded a tenant and landlord relationship between a husband and wife. I'm too smart for that," our missus said.

"She put it in writing," we argued.

"What of it? Can a court destroy a woman's privilege to be temperamental and impetuous," she demanded, adding, "if three married high court judges can't reach agreements without a hassle, what chance have the rest of us?"

NOW THAT RED CHINA is claiming ownership of Mt. Everest whose mountain is safe? It has climbed the 20,000 foot peak by edict, wrapped it up by phone and warned all nations to take in its mountains after dark or else.

Other big nations hold meetings at summits. China seizes them. Chou En-lai acts as a minister of mountain peaks and declares Chinese peaks and free world peaks can't coexist except in old movies. (Will Soviet Russia now claim she owns the Matterhorn?)

"Ben Hur" got an Oscar award as the best movie. It took a lot of horse trading. Carleton Heston wasn't among those folks saying, "Wild horses couldn't drag me into one of those award shindigs."

Famed for "monster" roles, Boris may have been chosen, however, to warn public that lovely music is still in danger and that composers of current song hits need to be scared.

Odd Facts

It seems apparent that everyone "wants in on the act," so far as the ever-growing trend towards more frequent and longer vacations in the United States is concerned. Advertising by the states for tourists hit a new high last year when about $6.5 million was spent by individual states in advertising campaigns to lure holiday and vacation travelers.

The Power Of Faith

By Howard Brodie

In the Steps of Christ

I feel joyful when I sketch the great events of Palm Sunday. Maybe it is because I once rode down the old Roman road on the Mount of Olives, astride a little donkey borrowed from a friendly farmer in Bethphage. I still recall the crisp, clear air, the whir-r-r-r of a bird on the wing and the blue sky and gentle landscape. It was not hard to imagine that when Jesus was "at the descent of the mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began to rejoice and praise God with a loud voice . . . Saying blessed be the King that cometh in the name of the Lord." (Luke 19:37-8)

Hoffa Eyes Teamster Funds Merger

By Victor Riesel

Surprisingly, Jim Hoffa believes that the pen is mightier than the sword — the fountain pen, that is. This quaintness springs from Hoffa's easy access to books—check books, that is. He has, therefore, devised a simple plan for creating a billion dollar fund which he could dominate.

Victor Riesel

This billion would be a minimum if Hoffa succeeds. He now is pushing for the merger of all Teamsters pension and welfare monies into "one over-all nationwide operation."

Hoffa, whose daring is matched only by his disdain for those around him, told eastern Teamsters chiefs of this ambition when he was in New York for the intimate Madison Square Garden gathering March 14.

The provisional Teamsters president has corroborated this in recent weeks in reply to communications sent him by his eastern colleagues.

If Hoffa could merge these regional pension and welfare funds today, he would have a pool of almost 800 million dollars, a survey by this column reveals.

There is at least 350 million in the Central Southeast and Southwest Teamsters Conference pension and welfare funds.

THE TEAMSTERS use the word "conference" to mean district. This does not include the millions of dollars in a separate Ohio Teamsters - truckers setup. Nor does it include the millions in the special funds of international Vice President Sandy O'Brien's Chicago local.

There is 200 million in the Teamsters Western Conference funds. And about the same in the Eastern Conference coffers.

Little acorns have nothing on these funds. They grow at the rate of 10 per cent a year — or about 80 million dollars annually after expenses and benefits are paid.

There is no truth to the report that Hoffa plans to issue a charter to Fort Knox. He just doesn't need that old hole in the ground.

Those Teamsters funds are more solvent than the U.S.A. Trucking companies are paying about 180 million dollars a year into the pension and welfare pools. In the West the payments run about two million a month for welfare and two million more for pensions. In the Central area the figure is close to five million for pension and welfare. In the East it runs slightly higher. Add to this the millions more paid by non-trucking firms unionized by the Teamsters.

HOFFA HAS quite a jurisdiction. Since it has never been on the record outside of Teamsters records, here it is in their own words:

"This organization has jurisdiction over all teamsters, chauffeurs, warehousemen and helpers; all who are employed on or around houses, harness carriages, automobiles, trucks, trailers and all other vehicles hauling, carrying or conveying freight, merchandise or materials; automotive sales, service and maintenance employes, garage workers and service station employes, warehousemen of all kinds employed in warehouse work, stockmen, shipping room employes and loaders, that is persons engaged in loading and unloading freight, merchandise, or other materials on to or from any type of vehicle; all classes of dairy employes, inside and outside, including salesmen, brewery and soft drink workers; workers employed in ice cream plants . . .

"All other workers employed in the manufacture, processing, sales and distribution of food, milk, dairy and other products; all truck terminal employes, cannery workers; and other workers where the security of the bargaining position of above classifications requires the organization of such other workers."

At least this leaves outer space. Meanwhile, back here on earth the welfare and pension payments from such jurisdiction could total several hundred million dollars a year.

Only some 60 per cent is spent each year. If Hoffa could dominate the investment of such a pool of cash as he influences his Central fund loans, he could be the biggest unmerged banker in the land in a decade.

We could be picketed or have a sit-down demonstration and we would have no redress.

"We've always held our standards high in our motel. Yet now Negroes come in and they sit outside and shout back and forth play ball or do anything to attract attention, while white people drive past without stopping and then our motel stands half empty. So, you see the problem is economic as well as social. Again I ask where are our 'civil rights'?

"We are elderly people. We have put our life's savings in this motel. If we lose it because of racial trouble, we are too old to start over."

THE FOREGOING is similar to many other letters that have been received in which people express the opinion that social customs are private customs and that every business should have the right to select its own customers.

Former President Harry Truman, commenting on the "sit-in" demonstrations, has publicly stated that "if someone came into my store and tried to stop business, I'd throw him out." Boycotts have been undertaken as a means of intimidating individuals who believe they have a right to run their own business.

The problem is not confined to the South. Mail received by this correspondent indicates that there are plenty of instances in northern cities where the "civil rights" issue now has become an agitation for the invasion of private rights.

Blessing In Disguise?

By Jay G. Hayden

One sure effect of the Wisconsin primary result is to heighten the argument among Democratic nominating delegates as to the good or ill of Sen. John Kennedy's Catholic faith for ultimate vote garnering.

But the very presence of this argument makes it much more difficult to turn Kennedy down, assuming that he continues the decisive popular victories scored in New Hampshire and Wisconsin.

This is so because even a suspicion that Kennedy was denied the nomination because of his religion almost certainly would turn great numbers of Catholics away from whoever else becomes the Democratic presidential nominee.

It was this same "Catholic or else" conundrum that gave Gov. Alfred E. Smith (D-NY) his easy nomination for president in 1928.

The prime necessity in that case, as the ruling Democratic politicos saw it, was to erase the blot of bigotry cast on their party by its bowing down to the Ku Klux Klan in the nearly three-week-long deadlock of their late previous convention in 1924.

THAT WAS the year also when Ku Klux political influence, coinciding closely with the prevailing constitutional prohibition of the manufacture or sale of anything more alcoholic than 3 per cent beer, was at an all-time peak.

Gov. Smith was Catholic and "wet." McAdoo, with or without his consent, became labeled "Protestant" and "dry."

The clash of ideology was formalized when the resolutions committee, confronted with a proposal to condemn the Ku Klux Klan, found the issue too difficult and passed it on to the whole convention.

Thus occurred one of the most amazing verdicts in partisan history. After an all-night debate, the vote of the convention was announced at 5 a.m.: 541 in favor of denunciation of the Ku Klux Klan to 542 against. Thus, by a margin of one vote, the Democratic party tagged itself with the Ku Klux label.

Thereupon the convention balloted 102 times with Smith and McAdoo barring each other from the required two-thirds. On the 103rd ballot John W. Davis of New York, a Smith supporter, was nominated for president with Charles Bryan, brother of the Ku Klux and "dry" leader, William Jennings Bryan, hooked on for vice president.

THE FOLLOWING November that ticket went down to overwhelming defeat at the hands of the Republican combination of Calvin Coolidge for president and Charles Dawes for vice president.

In 1928 the Democratic party offered a comparable compromise but with Smith the presidential nominee and Sen. Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, Dixiecrat and "dry," the vice-presidential running mate.

Again the Republican ticket of Herbert Hoover and Charles Curtis won handily. Smith and Robinson lost four southern states—Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Texas — and north of the Mason and Dixon line won only Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

According to an analysis by the highly objective and bipartisan Milwaukee Journal, there was a marked crossing-over in Wisconsin by Catholic republicans Tuesday in behalf of Senator Kennedy, and comparable Protestant diversions to the support of Senator Humphrey.

As a Republican, sure of nomination, Vice President Nixon conceivably suffered both ways.

There is a strong consensus among political experts of both parties that Senator Kennedy's catholicism will prove a benefit for the final election in northeastern industrial states such as Ohio, Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin, and in California on the west coast the equation is figured about even.

But throughout the south and its border states and in the agricultural middle west symptoms of anti-Catholic leanings heretofore have seemed strong.

Veteran Pension Compared Under Old And New Law

A quick new-and-old comparison of veterans pension programs was summarized today by A. G. Bille, contact representative-in-charge of the Veterans Administration Office, 227 N. 5th St., Steubenville.

Under the present pension law, a veteran's pension is either $66.15 a month, or $78.75, if he has been on the pension rolls 10 years or has reached age 65.

Under the new pension law, which goes into effect July 1, a veteran's monthly pension payment may vary from a low of $40 per month to a high of $100. If he is in need of regular aid and attendance, it could go as high as $170 a month.

These variations in the new pension payments result from the use of a sliding income scale. The large pension payments go to veterans earning lesser income or with more dependents.

The old pension law sets limits of $1,400 a year for a single veteran and $2,700 a year for veterans with dependents. Once within the income limitations, the payments were the same for all.

The new pension law, however, provides payments of $85 monthly to single veterans whose annual income is $600 or less; $70 monthly to single veterans whose incomes are not over $1,200, and $40 monthly to single veterans whose incomes are not over $1,800. Pensions cease after this $1,800 figure.

Veterans with dependents will also receive pensions on a sliding scale; no pension to those with incomes over $3,000 annually; regardless of the number of dependents, those with income of between $2,000 and $3,000 will receive $45 monthly and those with incomes between $1,000 and $2,000 will receive $75 monthly. Those with an income of $1,000 or less will receive $90 with one dependent, $95 with two, and $100 with three or more dependents.

Those veterans requiring regular aid and attendance would be paid $70 a month in addition to any of those pension payments listed above.

Nixon's Birth Control Stand Unlike Ike's

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon has taken a stand on birth control information policy that differs from the views of President Eisenhower.

If foreign countries ask for such information, Nixon said Friday night, the United States should supply it.

Last Dec. 2, Eisenhower told a news conference that if other countries "want to go to someone for help, they should go to professional groups, not governments."

"We do not intend to interfere with the internal affairs of any other government," the President also said, "and if they want to do something about a very difficult and almost an explosive issue, that is their business."

On that point of the issue, Nixon agreed completely. He told the annual convention of the Associated Church Press that the United States should not offer any information about birth control.

Answering questions informally, Nixon said that the government and people of the underdeveloped countries "must develop their own program and policies within their own culture.

"If they reach a decision that they want to limit population growth at a certain point and come to us for assistance," he continued, "we should give it to them."

The church editors applauded as Nixon concluded: "For us to say that we would not help them to combat misery and ill-health would not be a good policy."

Veteran Pension Compared Under Old And New Law

A quick new-and-old comparison of veterans pension programs was summarized today by A. G. Bille, contact representative-in-charge of the Veterans Administration Office, 227 N. 5th St., Steubenville.

Under the present pension law, a veteran's pension is either $66.15 a month, or $78.75, if he has been on the pension rolls 10 years or has reached age 65.

Under the new pension law, which goes into effect July 1, a veteran's monthly pension payment may vary from a low of $40 per month to a high of $100. If he is in need of regular aid and attendance, it could go as high as $170 a month.

These variations in the new pension payments result from the use of a sliding income scale. The large pension payments go to veterans earning lesser income or with more dependents.

The old pension law sets limits of $1,400 a year for a single veteran and $2,700 a year for veterans with dependents. Once within the income limitations, the payments were the same for all.

The new pension law, however, provides payments of $85 monthly to single veterans whose annual income is $600 or less; $70 monthly to single veterans whose incomes are not over $1,200, and $40 monthly to single veterans whose incomes are not over $1,800. Pensions cease after this $1,800 figure.

Veterans with dependents will also receive pensions on a sliding scale; no pension to those with incomes over $3,000 annually; regardless of the number of dependents, those with income of between $2,000 and $3,000 will receive $45 monthly and those with incomes between $1,000 and $2,000 will receive $75 monthly. Those with an income of $1,000 or less will receive $90 with one dependent, $95 with two, and $100 with three or more dependents.

Those veterans requiring regular aid and attendance would be paid $70 a month in addition to any of those pension payments listed above.

Nixon's Birth Control Stand Unlike Ike's

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon has taken a stand on birth control information policy that differs from the views of President Eisenhower.

If foreign countries ask for such information, Nixon said Friday night, the United States should supply it.

Last Dec. 2, Eisenhower told a news conference that if other countries "want to go to someone for help, they should go to professional groups, not governments."

"We do not intend to interfere with the internal affairs of any other government," the President also said, "and if they want to do something about a very difficult and almost an explosive issue, that is their business."

On that point of the issue, Nixon agreed completely. He told the annual convention of the Associated Church Press that the United States should not offer any information about birth control.

Answering questions informally, Nixon said that the government and people of the underdeveloped countries "must develop their own program and policies within their own culture.

"If they reach a decision that they want to limit population growth at a certain point and come to us for assistance," he continued, "we should give it to them."

The church editors applauded as Nixon concluded: "For us to say that we would not help them to combat misery and ill-health would not be a good policy."

Club Hears Judge Tobin

Tragedy In Juvenile Cases Described In Talk To Lions

Citing many of the case histories which have come before his court, Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin told Lions Club members Friday afternoon, "It behooves us to make a real effort to reach these children."

"We are the ones who suffer," Judge Tobin declared in addressing the club's luncheon meeting at the Travelers Hotel and exhibiting pictures of some of the youngsters and their homes.

Judge Tobin urged members to think of the faces in the pictures rather than in terms of the cost when remedies are proposed. "Rather than spend $1,714 a year to keep a boy in the Boys' Industrial School, let's spend $500 in an effort to keep him out."

The jurist told the club he revoked an 18-year-old boy's parole yesterday morning and sentenced him to the Mansfield Reformatory. A New Yorker, the boy is a heroin addict, the judge said, and had used a razor to cut his arms in an effort to hide the telltale needle marks from police.

A report from New York authorities showed the boy's mother is a dope pusher and his brother is on parole from prison, the judge continued.

"But that's a New York boy. Let's look at some of the cases that happened in your backyard," he commented.

Citing a tragic accident last weekend in which a Salineville girl was killed while en route to a school play, Judge Tobin commented, "The driver is known to have had 'a heavy foot'!"

He recalled another Salineville youngster was operated on last week for a brain injury suffered when struck by a car driven by a 17-year-old.

The boy was driving a 1947 auto "purchased from a junk dealer who didn't care for the magnificent sum of $25 — with parental approval," the judge said.

"What's your attitude on these cases? Some people say, 'I wouldn't have your job for anything in the world' as if it is my problem alone." Citing federal statistics, Judge Tobin said a million of the nation's crimes of 2¼ million are perpetrated by children under 18 and 8 per cent of the murders are caused by children under 16.

Delinquent children can be sentenced to industrial schools or jails "but all we have when they get out is a bigger and wiser criminal."

"What they do when they are released depends on what we try to do for them. Think of them as individuals, not statistics.

"I don't believe it's enough to say they are only 3 per cent of the population. We still have to live with them.

"There's no expert in this game. There are as many reasons kids go wrong as there are kids."

There is an increasing number of moral neglect cases coming into his court, Judge Tobin said. "Two months ago a county girl gave birth to a baby on her 13th birthday," he commented.

He recalled the case of a 15-year-old Wellsville girl who became pregnant. During the investigation, it was established the girl's mother gave birth to three children by the girl's uncle while still living in the same house with the girl's father, Judge Tobin said.

Judge Tobin also outlined a case of a 13-year-old Wellsville girl who was beaten almost insensible by her mother. "Why? Because she wouldn't go out on a double date with her mother and spend the night with two men in a Wheeling hotel."

He recalled the case of a young East Liverpool girl who broke $1,100 worth of windows at Westgate School. Her parents deserted her when she was 3 and she has been raised by a 70-year-old aunt wth a kind heart, the judge said.

"But she was ashamed because she had to wear the same dress to school every day and the other children made fun of her. Perhaps if someone had cared several years ago, we would have had a girl with a pleasant smile on her face. "I'm sure she would have been better off and so would we," he said.

"Even the so - called better class of families are more or less indifferent," Judge Tobin continued, citing the case of an East Palestine boy several years ago nabbed in the burglary of a service station.

The father made about $15,000 a year and the mother was society woman. The boy was an A student with an IQ of 145, president of the Junior Class and had delivered a sermon in his church a few days before the burglary.

When the boy was 15 he was permitted to drive without a license and when cited into Juvenile Court all his mother could say was 'he knows what he's doing; he's a smart boy'."

His parents gave him a brand new car and $20 a week spending money but when the money wasn't enough to keep up the car and maintain his social standing he started to steal, the judge said.

In another case, a 13-year-old girl and a 14-year-old boy came before him with their parents because the girl was pregnant. "The parents wanted someone to wave a magic wand and make the problem go away," Judge Tobin declared.

"The youngsters had been dating steadily — and I mean every night in the week — since they were 11 and 12. They thought it was cute to leave them alone until midnight or later. With no more knowledge of the facts of life and their natural attraction for each other, what more could be expected?" Judge Tobin asked.

"There are too many children without religious or moral training. Your parents built into you a conscience and when temptations arose, your conscience could tell you right from wrong.

"Many, many children tell me they have never seen the inside of a church and some have never even heard of the 10 Commandments. Where are they going to get a moral code unless someone takes the trouble to teach them?

"They won't be immoral; they will be amoral," he concluded.

Judge Tobin was introduced by Don Baxter, program chairman, who announced Dale Thompson will show slides and discuss a recent trip to the Holy Land at next Friday's meeting.

"Even the so - called better class of families are more or less indifferent," Judge Tobin continued, citing the case of an East Palestine boy several years ago nabbed in the burglary of a service station.

The father made about $15,000 a year and the mother was society woman. The boy was an A student with an IQ of 145, president of the Junior Class and had delivered a sermon in his church a few days before the burglary.

When the boy was 15 he was permitted to drive without a license and when cited into Juvenile Court all his mother could say was 'he knows what he's doing; he's a smart boy'."

His parents gave him a brand new car and $20 a week spending money but when the money wasn't enough to keep up the car and maintain his social standing he started to steal, the judge said.

In another case, a 13-year-old girl and a 14-year-old boy came before him with their parents because the girl was pregnant. "The parents wanted someone to wave a magic wand and make the problem go away," Judge Tobin declared.

"The youngsters had been dating steadily — and I mean every night in the week — since they were 11 and 12. They thought it was cute to leave them alone until midnight or later. With no more knowledge of the facts of life and their natural attraction for each other, what more could be expected?" Judge Tobin asked.

"There are too many children without religious or moral training. Your parents built into you a conscience and when temptations arose, your conscience could tell you right from wrong.

"Many, many children tell me they have never seen the inside of a church and some have never even heard of the 10 Commandments. Where are they going to get a moral code unless someone takes the trouble to teach them?

"They won't be immoral; they will be amoral," he concluded.

Judge Tobin was introduced by Don Baxter, program chairman, who announced Dale Thompson will show slides and discuss a recent trip to the Holy Land at next Friday's meeting.

DiSalle Sifts Plea To Spare Life Of Man

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Relatives of Frank Poindexter, Cincinnati slayer scheduled to be executed April 18, pleaded with Gov. Michael V. DiSalle Friday to spare the condemned man's life. DiSalle took the case under study.

Poindexter, 50, was convicted of first-degree murder and sentenced to die in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair for the fatal shooting of Mrs. Roxie H. Hires in Hamilton April 10. 1959.

Friday Poindexter's wife, Delphia; his mother, Mrs. Sylvia Poindexter; his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dugger, Milan, Ind., and Cincinnati attorney Harvey Woods told the governor they felt the man's life should be spared.

Also present were Poindexter's 2½-year-old daughter and four stepchildren ranging in age from 7 to 17.

Detailing circumstances of the shooting in the Hires' home, Woods said: "It is our contention it was not a purposeful killing."

Poindexter had a companion in the shooting—Hollis Leigh of Cincinnati, who drew a life sentence. A third man, Sam Decker, who was not at the scene but identified as the one who planned a robbery of the Hires' home, pleaded guilty to second-degree murder and also was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Poindexter claimed he fired through the door after Mrs. Hires started shooting. He said they went to the Hires' home to discuss a roofing job with her husband.

The plea to the governor followed failure of appeals to higher courts.

Plague-Laden Fog Could Hit U.S. Coast, Studies Indicate

CLEVELAND (AP)—New germ warfare studies using living germs loosed in the atmosphere show how a plague-laden fog could envelop American coastal points from far at sea.

This was reported Friday by an Army bacteriological warfare defense specialist.

"The possibility of the strategic coverage at long range of very extensive target areas is the major threat of bacteriological warfare to our nation," the specialist said.

Dr. LeRoy D. Fothergill of the Army's Chemical and Bacteriological Warfare Research Center, Ft. Detrick, Md., told about it at a special symposium on germ and chemical warfare defense conducted by the American Chemical Society at its 137th national meeting.

He did so in disclosing the first reported field trials involving the use of living, infectious microbes to determine the range from which a potential enemy might successfully loose such weapons and sicken men, animals or plants.

The scientist disclosed that a quantity of germs, in the form of an aerosol spray, was loosed into the air from one point in an uninhabited area and carried downwind.

Guinea pigs, he told a reporter, had been placed previously at various points throughout the area.

Later, it was discovered that guinea pigs were infected for a distance of 15 miles downwind from the point of origin of the aerosol.

The scientist declined to identify the particular organism used or to say where the test was conducted.

Sinatra Fires Screenwriter Albert Maltz

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Swinging Frank Sinatra, swayed by the angry wind of protest, has fired Albert Maltz as screenwriter of the film, "The Execution of Private Slovik."

Sinatra's announcement Friday night that Maltz, one of Hollywood's "unfriendly ten," won't write the script, caught the movie capital by surprise.

Many of his friends and even his detractors felt that the hard-headed singer-producer would remain adamant despite criticism by such veteran anti-Communists as the American Legion, John Wayne and Ward Bond.

Sinatra, a self-described liberal Democrat, has a reputation of taking unpopular positions and standing by them. At first Sinatra refused to budge after hiring Maltz, who was unofficially blacklisted 13 years ago when he refused to tell a congressional committee whether he was a Communist. Maltz, a top screen writer with such credits as "Destination Tokyo," went to jail for contempt of Congress along with the other nine unfriendly witnesses.

But Friday night he reversed his field and announced:

"In view of the reaction of my family, my friends and the American public, I have instructed my attorneys to make a settlement with Albert Maltz and to inform him that he will not write the screen play for the "Execution of Private Slovik."

There was no immediate comment from Maltz, believed to be in Europe.

DiSalle Sifts Plea To Spare Life Of Man

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Relatives of Frank Poindexter, Cincinnati slayer scheduled to be executed April 16, pleaded with Gov. Michael V. DiSalle Friday to spare the condemned man's life. DiSalle took the case under study.

Poindexter, 30, was convicted of first-degree murder and sentenced to die in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair for the fatal shooting of Mrs. Roxie H. Hires in Hamilton April 10, 1959.

Friday Poindexter's wife, Delphia; his mother, Mrs. Sylvia Poindexter; his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dugger, Milan, Ind., and Cincinnati attorney Harvey Woods told the governor they felt the man's life should be spared.

Also present were Poindexter's 2½-year-old daughter and four stepchildren ranging in age from 7 to 17.

Detailing circumstances of the shooting in the Hires' home, Woods said: "It is our contention it was not a purposeful killing."

Poindexter had a companion in the shooting—Hollis Leigh of Cincinnati, who drew a life sentence. A third man, Sam Decker, who was not at the scene but identified as the one who planned a robbery of the Hires' home, pleaded guilty to second-degree murder and also was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Poindexter claimed he fired through the door after Mrs. Hires started shooting. He said they went to the Hires' home to discuss a roofing job with her husband.

The plea to the governor followed failure of appeals to higher courts.

CLEVELAND (AP)—New germ warfare studies using living germs loosed in the atmosphere show how a plague-laden fog could envelop American coastal points from far at sea.

This was reported Friday by an Army bacteriological warfare defense specialist.

"The possibility of the strategic coverage at long range of very extensive target areas is the major threat of bacteriological warfare to our nation," the specialist said.

Dr. LeRoy D. Fothergill of the Army's Chemical and Bacteriological Warfare Research Center, Ft. Detrick, Md., told about it at a special symposium on germ and chemical warfare defense conducted by the American Chemical Society at its 137th national meeting.

He did so in disclosing the first reported field trials involving the use of living, infectious microbes to determine the range from which a potential enemy might successfully loose such weapons and sicken men, animals or plants.

The scientist disclosed that a quantity of germs, in the form of an aerosol spray, was loosed into the air from one point in an uninhabited area and carried downwind.

Guinea pigs, he told a reporter, had been placed previously at various points throughout the area.

Later, it was discovered that guinea pigs were infected for a distance of 15 miles downwind from the point of origin of the aerosol.

The scientist declined to identify the particular organism used or to say where the test was conducted.

State Patrol Reports 76 Mishaps In March

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon investigated 76 accidents in March, including one fatality, according to the monthly report.

Officers were on 12 special details, gave 4 safety talks, spot-checked 2 school buses and collected $215 in registration fees.

Sinatra Fires Screenwriter Albert Maltz

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Swinging Frank Sinatra, swayed by the angry wind of protest, has fired Albert Maltz as screenwriter of the film, "The Execution of Private Slovik."

Sinatra's announcement Friday night that Maltz, one of Hollywood's "unfriendly ten," won't write the script, caught the movie capital by surprise.

Many of his friends and even his detractors felt that the hard-headed singer-producer would remain adamant despite criticism by such veteran anti-Communists as the American Legion, John Wayne and Ward Bond.

Sinatra, a self-described liberal Democrat, has a reputation of taking unpopular positions and standing by them. At first Sinatra refused to budge after hiring Maltz, who was unofficially blacklisted 13 years ago when he refused to tell a congressional committee whether he was a Communist. Maltz, a top screen writer with such credits as "Destination Tokyo," went to jail for contempt of Congress along with the other nine unfriendly witnesses.

But Friday night he reversed his field and announced:

"In view of the reaction of my family, my friends and the American public, I have instructed my attorneys to make a settlement with Albert Maltz and to inform him that he will not write the screen play for the "Execution of Private Slovik."

There was no immediate comment from Maltz, believed to be in Europe.

Bridgeport Five Captures Junior Cage Tournament Title

Talented Quintet Routs Travelers

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Roberts Drugs of Bridgeport is the new champion of the Blue and White Nonpareil Club's annual Junior Basketball Tournament.

The tall, talented and terrific Belmont County entry walked off with the title and an armload of trophies by defeating Travelers Hotel of East Liverpool, 88-68, in the championship battle Friday night at Memorial Auditorium.

Height and all-around class of the Bridgeport team prevailed as the druggists swept through all opposition in impressive fashion to succeed Eason Insurance as tournament champion.

Travelers Hotel, weakened considerably by failure of several Youngstown area stars to put in appearances, got off to a poor start but finished strong on the scoring of All-Ohio Nick Milasnovich.

The new champs walloped American Vitrified (Canton Timken High School) by a 74-49 score in a semi-final game. Runner - up Travelers Hotel reached the finals by eliminating underdog Eason Insurance in the semi-finals, 77-49.

The 1960 edition of the junior tournament — the 13th year it has been held in East Liverpool— must go down as one of the best by virtue of outstanding individual performances.

Roberts Drugs began cutting a swath through the 13-team field by upsetting favored Gengarellas of Midland Tuesday night. The march was climaxed by an overwhelming victory over Travelers Hotel which was the fourth victim to fall before Bridgeport's superior height and shooting power.

The championship game, seen by an estimated 400 fans and several college basketball mentors, proved a much better attraction than the semi-final battles.

Milasnovich pumped in 27 points in the Travelers victory over Eason Insurance which was composed of players from the Swissvale High varsity. The Pennsylvanians fought gamely but the more experienced hotelmen zoomed out to a 26-8 lead and won easily.

Roberts Drugs also had an easy semi-final game, coasting by a ragged Canton Timken squad which had posted a gaudy 24-1 season record. The point spread was never close after the first half as the Timken squad surprised about everyone with poor shooting.

The tall trio of Bill Koss, 6-6 center from Bridgeport High, Bob Patton, 6-5 forward from Martins Ferry and Doug Kinnison, 6-5, also of Bridgeport, was unequaled by any team in the tournament.

The three young giants swept the boards of rebounds with considerable ease in every game. Guards Phil Musgrave, 6-2, of Steubenville Big Red, and husky John Patrone, 5-10, from Bellaire, gave Roberts Drugs more than enough balance to handle any squad in the tournament.

Travelers Hotel, with Bruce Osborne of Youngstown in the lineup along with Bereck of Vienna High, was given an outside chance to stop the Bridgeport team. Without Osborne, an all-city guard, and the gangling Bereck, 6-5, the odds favoring Roberts shot sky high. Neither player showed up for the final round of action.

That left the scoring burden on the brilliant Milasnovich, a jump shot artist, and Salem's All-Ohio guard Dave Hunter. But neither was able to supply enough height to stop the Bridgeport squad.

Patton pumped in 23 points and Patrone 21 from his outside slot to spark Roberts Drugs to victory in the championship game.

Coach Jim Harris' hotel entry got off slowly and managed to make one strong threat as the final period opened. Hunter led the final drive which reduced Bridgeport's margin from 58-47 to 62-58 with about five minutes left in the game.

The druggists, however, maintained their poise and kept up a rentless scoring attack led by Patton to maintain a comfortable margin until the final buzzer.

Hogan Fires 68 In Masters Play

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The rules-dizzy Masters Golf Tournament went into the third round today with a familiar and unnerving shadow hovering over the field — that of the Texas hawk, Ben Hogan.

"The little man is on the move again," they said around the Augusta National Course after the 47-year-old Hogan fired a brilliant four-under-par 68 to move into contention. Hogan has been in semiretirement for five years.

Pretournament favorite Arnold Palmer still leads the pack with a 140—thanks to a series of weird legalistic procedures — but Ben was right behind with three others at 141.

One of these was Dow Finsterwald, who would have had first place all to himself except for a bizarre retroactive two-stroke penalty slapped on by the rules committee. The others were Claude Harmon, a portly club professional from Mamaroneck, N.Y., and Walter Burkemo, pug-faced former PGA champion.

The field was so closely packed that the top 17 were bunched within four shots of each other and only ten shots separated Palmer from the last-place man of the 45 survivors.

Palmer, however, may be hard to overtake. At 30, he is strong as an ox, imperturbable and riding the crest of money-winning success. He also is getting favorable breaks in the rules decisions.

So far in the tournament he has had free-lifts on two imbedded balls and was not penalized for a practice swing he took on the 15th Friday. He wound up with a 73 to go with his earlier 67.

Finsterwald, a slender executive-type from Tequesta, Fla., was not so fortunate. He came in with a 70 following a first round 69, only to blow the whistle on himself in an unusual incident.

The former Athens, Ohio, player admitted that he had taken a practice putt on the fifth green of his first round Thursday, not realizing it violated local rules.

The rules say such a violation requires a two-stroke penalty.

CBS Will Televise Masters Play Sunday

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Play in the Masters Golf Tournament will be nationally televised by Columbia Broadcasting System Saturday and Sunday.

On Saturday, the matches will be on home screens between 5 and 6 p.m. (EST). On Sunday the time will be 4 to 5:30 p.m.

Celts, Hawks In Cage Final

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — The climactic National Basketball Assn. championship game today spotlights Bob Cousy and Bill Sharman — Boston's tiring 10-year veterans who once teamed with St. Louis Coach Ed Macauley.

The best-of-seven title series has gone the limit. Because the Hawks rallied three times to pull even in the competition, it becomes aone-shot, sudden death struggle at Boston Garden starting at 2:15 p. m.

Witnessing the showdown between the defending champion Celtics and challenging Hawks will be a sellout crowd of 13,909 plus a national television audience.

"This game is a matter of pride as well as ability with us," said Cousy summing up the Celtics' views. "I want this title so bad I can taste it. So I think we'll get it."

"I said before the series started if we could carry it into a seventh game we would have a very good chance to win it all," remarked Macauley.

Cousy and Sharman, who at times have shown the effects of the exhausting playoff grind, admit they must provide the Celtics' scoring "differential."

Patton Named As MVP In Junior Tournament

Bob Patton, a muscular, crew cut senior from Martins Ferry High School, headed a list of award winners named at the climax of the 13th annual Junior Basketball Tournament Friday night.

The 6-foot, 4-inch All - Eastern Ohio selection was named the most valuable player and landed a spot on the 10-member All-Tournament team selected by Blue and White Nonpareil Club directors.

Patton, a 190-pounder, was second high scorer for the tournament with 82 points in four games. The bashful, young giant was as equally as tough on defense in leading Roberts Drugs of Bridgeport to the 1960 championship.

Patton will perform for the South squad in the annual North-South All-Star cage classic this summer. He gained honorable mention on the 1960 All-Ohio squad and has had offers from Georgia Tech, Ohio State and Duquesne.

Youngstown Woodrow Wilson's great scorer, Nick Milasnovich, also reaped a lion's share of the awards. The 6-foot, 2-inch slender guard with a smooth overhead jump shot was the tourney's high scorer with 87 points. Milasnovich, who performed for Travelers Hotel, also landed a berth on the all-tournament squad.

A tie resulted for the best foul shot award as both Doug Kinnison of Roberts Drugs and Don Hout of Jones Market of Mansfield hit 9 of 11 attempts.

BOB PATTON
Ferry Star Most Valuable.

The six others voted to the select list were Milasnovich and Dave Hunter of Travelers Hotel, Nick Palotta and John Namciu of American Vitrified, Jack Byrnes of Eason Insurance, and Jerry Bohus of Jones Market of Mansfield.

Individual trophies were presented to the champion and runners-up squads while each got team trophies. The presentations were made by Ralph Musuraca, president of the Nonparil Club.

Co-chairmen of the tournament were Ed Hester and Dick Forzano. Coaches Rey Peduzzi and Bob Hedmond of East Liverpool High were scorer and timer, respectively.

Ohio Shows 10 In AAU Field

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Ohio boasted a fourth of the field today as 40 fighters went into the semi-finals of the national AAU boxing championships.

Most of the lesser lights and some of the brighter ones in the starting field of 119 were eliminated in the first two rounds. The heaviest losses were Petros Spanakos of Caldwell, Idaho, 119-pound Golden Gloves champion, and 206-pound Jimmy Blythe of Hartford, Conn., winner of the AAU heavyweight crown the last two years.

Spanakos, half of a twin-brother act in the competition, was outpointed by Oscar German of Muskegon, Mich. Blythe was eliminated by 196-pound Jimmie Jones, a 20-year-old filling station attendant from Chicago.

The scrappers, four in each of 10 divisions, will not know their semi-final opponents for tonight until the afternoon weigh-ins and drawings. Both the semifinals and finals will be staged tonight in three-round bouts—the semi-finals in two-minute stanzas and the championships in three -minute ones.

Defending champions still on hand are Bryan O'Shea of Chicago, 132 pounds; Quincey Daniels of Seattle, 139; Wilbert McClure of Toledo, 156; and Cassius Clay of Louisville, Ky. 178.

Along with Ohio's 10 entries, New York has 5, Michigan, 4; Colorado, Idaho and Illinois, 3 each; Louisiana, Pennsylvania and Washington, 2; and Utah, North Carolina, Massachusetts, Kansas, Kentucky and Alabama, 1 each.

Score To Give Ailing Arm Big Test Today

Unless the former strikeout king can go four or five innings in good fashion, he's not going to be a part of the Indians regular starting pitching rotation at the opening of the American League season a week from Tuesday.

New 'Classic' Division Slated In 1961's ABC

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — When next spring's American Bowling Congress tournament is held in Detroit, there will be a new "classic" division in which the pin-toppling professionals will be grouped.

Establishment of the "classic" division is the most radical change in the 57-year history of the ABC tournament. In addition to separating those who bowl for a hobby from those who bowl for a livelihood, the amendment is designed to attract bigger spectator gates at the ABC championships.

Six games will be involved in the team event, three on successive nights. This will give the big name teams two nights for drawing spectators, compared to the one they have under the system now in effect. The "classic" division teams will use lanes at the center of the arena, flanked by the open division teams on the same shift.

Open or booster division teams may, if they desire, compete in the professionals' division. Entry in the "classic" division will be mandatory for any team with two or more individuals in its lineup who have 190 averages and who earn their livelihood from the game.

Tournament competition Friday produced no changes in the top tens of the singles, doubles and all-events standings, but in the open team division Crossroads Lanes of Peoria, Ill., rolled into ninth place with a 3,004.

John Carroll U. Picks Keshock As Cage Coach

CLEVELAND (AP) — John Keshock of Youngstown, a 1955 graduate of John Carroll University, was selected Friday night by Carroll's athletic department to become the Blue Streaks' basketball coach.

The college president was expected to give official approval to Keshock's appointment today.

The 27-year-old Cardinal Mooney High School cage coach, was slated to replace Vito Kubilus whose Blue Streaks won the Presidents Athletic Conference championship in the season just ended with a 13-5 record. Kubilus had the job on a one-year, part-time basis.

Bond Is Most Exciting Rookie In Many Years

TUCSON — It's still too early to tell whether he's for real but right now the Cleveland Indians' slugging rookie outfielder, Walter Bond, 6-foot-6, is the most exciting youngster to be uncovered here in many a spring.

When people ask Manager Joe Gordon, "What about Bond?", the Cleveland pilot just grins and answers, "I don't know. But if this kid is just half as good as he looks, how can you not play him?

"Have you ever seen anyone make such an impression on the fans as this big fellow?" Gordon goes on. "He gives the fans a thrill just running down to first base. For a big guy, he moves very well and I think he can become a good outfielder in time."

There's no question but that Bond has been a most pleasant discovery here, particularly since his invitation to train with the Indians was extended only at the last moment when reserve outfielder Chuck Tanner suffered a serious injury while workng on his home this winter.

Regarded as a good prospect by Cleveland farm club officials last September after three years in the organization, Bond developed very fast this past fall and winter with the Tribe's club in the Florida Instructional League and then as a performer in the Nicaragua Winter League.

Walter's .336 batting average was among the top five in the Florida League in which many of the players were major league prospects who had played Class AAA and AA ball. He followed this up with a .389 mark in the Nicaragua League.

With the Indians this spring, Bond has been the club's leading hitter with a better than .400 average since he first broke into the lineup. Gordon has used him mainly in centerfield and while he has made mistakes in the field, he has displayed enough talent to lead Gordon to believe he could handle this position in time.

Bond has a mammoth stride which enables him to move exceptionally well for a man his size. Those giant steps of his as he moves around the base paths or in the outfield have quickly made him the favorite of the fans in the Indians' Cactus League games here.

A native of Denmark, Tenn., Bond attended Lane College at Jackson, Tenn. where he played varsity basketball and sandlot baseball in the summer months. Ted Rasberry, manager of the Kansas City Monarchs, signed him for his club in 1956 and Bond hit for a resounding .370 average in his initial season in the Negro American League.

Rasberry, a scout for the Indians, then recommended him to the Tribe and Bond was assigned to Cocoa of the Class D. Florida State League in 1957 where he hit .328, connected for 11 home runs and 80 runs batted in.

He was moved up to the Class B Burlington, N. C. club of the Carolina League in 1958 and there he hit 13 homers, had 70 RBI's and a batting average of .296.

Last summer he played for Reading, Pa. of the Class A. Eastern League, winding up with an average of .277 and 82 runs batted in. He had 17 doubles, 13 triples and 16 homers.

Bond credits his manager at Reading, Al Hollingsworth, with having helped improve his swing at the plate and believes that Hollingsworth's advice about cutting down his wild swinging is the major factor in his success since playing for Reading.

Bond himself seems very confident that his hitting barrage for the Indians is no fluke and that he can hit well enough to stay with the club. Just after an enemy pitcher has made him look bad on a curve or slider, Bond will line the same pitch out of the park next time up.

Jerry West To Marry WVU Coed On Sunday

MORGANTOWN (AP) — West Virginia basketball All-America Jerry West will be married tomorrow in a quiet ceremony on the WVU campus.

The best man will be Willie Akers, senior center on the 1959-60 WVU basketball team.

West said plans for a honey-moon are indefinite. "We may wait until after school," he declared.

M/Sgt. H. L. (Joe) Benner is coaching West Point's pistol team for the seventh season. He has won three world pistol titles.

Clark KO'd, But Confusion Marks Ending

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Did Lamar Clark get knocked out or did the referee step in too quickly in Clark's rousing brawl with young Bartolo Soni of the Dominican Republic?

Ringside fans, managers, and probably a lot of TV viewers are wondering about that after the confused ending of the televised (NBC) bout here Friday night.

Officially, the 181½ - pound Soni was credited with a knockout in 2:02 of the ninth round. The loss ended Clark's record knockout streak at 44 straight and was his first ring defeat in 46 pro bouts.

It was even harder for Clark to take because he was ahead on all the judges' cards and could have taken the decision by merely finishing. However, the bull-shouldered Soni lashed out with a flurry of hooking uppercuts which nailed Clark. When the strong boy from Cedar City, Utah, hit the canvas his head bounced.

To some fans, it seemed Clark, 182, was up before Referee Ken Shulsen finished the count. But Shulsen took Clark by the hand, waved Soni off and led Clark to a corner. Later Shulsen said he had finished the count and besides, he said Clark appeared to be out on his feet.

Shulsen had Clark ahead on points at the end of the eighth round, 79-74; Judge Del Markham had it 79-73; Judge Bob Yocum scored it 80-72 and The Associated Press had Clark ahead, 79-73.

The victory gives Soni a 15-2-1 record. However, his matches were against better opponents than Clark has faced.

Archery Shoot Sunday

A 56-target field round shoot will be held by the Midland Archers Sunday at 11:30 a. m. at the Midland Sportsmen's Farm. Three trophies in each class will be awarded. Refreshments will be served.

Canadiens Choice To Make It Two Straight Tonight

MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens are heavily favored to make it two straight over the Toronto Maple Leafs tonight in the National Hockey League's best-of-seven final series for the Stanley Cup. But any talk of four straight was discouraged by Canadian Coach Toe Blake.

"I sure don't want to hear any talk about four straight," said Blake after resting his regulars Friday and sending only six players through a light workout. "We can lose the next four, too. This is a sport where one unlucky bounce of the puck can change all those odds."

Toronto Coach Punch Imlach was in agreement regarding the series going more than four straight.

"They got the breaks in the first game," said Imlach. "Sooner or later we're going to get them, too. You can bet all the money in New York that we're not going to lose in four. Remember we were one game down to Detroit in the semifinals and we came back. We're going to do the same thing against the Canadiens."

The third and fourth games of the series will be played in Toronto next Tuesday and Thursday.

The "eighth pole" at race tracks is located one eighth of a mile from the finish line. Most tracks have "sixteenth poles" and "quarter mile poles."

Bridgeport Five Captures Junior Cage Tournament Title

Talented Quintet Routs Travelers

By CHUCK CRONIN
Review Sports Writer

Roberts Drugs of Bridgeport is the new champion of the Blue and White Nonpareil Club's annual Junior Basketball Tournament.

The tall, talented and terrific Belmont County entry walked off with the title and an armload of trophies by defeating Travelers Hotel of East Liverpool, 88-68, in the championship battle Friday night at Memorial Auditorium.

Height and all-around class of the Bridgeport team prevailed as the druggists swept through all opposition in impressive fashion to succeed Eason Insurance as tournament champion.

Travelers Hotel, weakened considerably by failure of several Youngstown area stars to put in appearances, got off to a poor start but finished strong on the scoring of All-Ohio Nick Milasnovich.

The new champs walloped American Vitrified (Canton Timken High School) by a 74-49 score in a semi-final game. Runner - up Travelers Hotel reached the finals by eliminating underdog Eason Insurance in the semi-finals, 77-49.

The 1960 edition of the junior tournament — the 13th year it has been held in East Liverpool— must go down as one of the best by virtue of outstanding individual performances.

Roberts Drugs began cutting a swath through the 13-team field by upsetting favored Gengarellas of Midland Tuesday night. The march was climaxed by an overwhelming victory over Travelers Hotel which was the fourth victim to fall before Bridgeport's superior height and shooting power.

The championship game, seen by an estimated 400 fans and several college basketball mentors, proved a much better attraction than the semi-final battles.

Milasnovich pumped in 27 points in the Travelers victory over Eason Insurance which was composed of players from the Swissvale High varsity. The Pennsylvanians fought gamely but the more experienced hotelmen zoomed out to a 26-8 lead and won easily.

Roberts Drugs also had an easy semi-final game, coasting by a ragged Canton Timken squad which had posted a gaudy 24-1 season record. The point spread was never close after the first half as the Timken squad surprised about everyone with poor shooting.

The tall trio of Bill Koss, 6-6 center from Bridgeport High, Bob Patton, 6-5 forward from Martins Ferry and Doug Kinnison, 6-5, also of Bridgeport, was unequaled by any team in the tournament.

The three young giants swept the boards of rebounds with considerable ease in every game. Guards Phil Musgrave, 6-2, of Steubenville Big Red, and husky John Patrone, 5-10, from Bellaire, gave Roberts Drugs more than enough balance to handle any squad in the tournament.

Travelers Hotel, with Bruce Osborne of Youngstown in the lineup along with Bereck of Vienna High, was given an outside chance to stop the Bridgeport team. Without Osborne, an all-city guard, and the gangling Bereck, 6-5, the odds favoring Roberts shot sky high. Neither player showed up for the final round of action.

That left the scoring burden on the brilliant Milasnovich, a jump shot artist, and Salem's All-Ohio guard Dave Hunter. But neither was able to supply enough height to stop the Bridgeport squad.

Patton pumped in 23 points and Patrone 21 from his outside slot to spark Roberts Drugs to victory in the championship game.

Coach Jim Harris' hotel entry got off slowly and managed to make one strong threat as the final period opened. Hunter led the final drive which reduced Bridgeport's margin from 58-47 to 62-58 with about five minutes left in the game.

The druggists, however, maintained their poise and kept up a rentless scoring attack led by Patton to maintain a comfortable margin until the final buzzer.

Hogan Fires 68 In Masters Play

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The rules-dizzy Masters Golf Tournament went into the third round today with a familiar and unnerving shadow hovering over the field — that of the Texas hawk, Ben Hogan.

"The little man is on the move again," they said around the Augusta National Course after the 47-year-old Hogan fired a brilliant four-under-par 68 to move into contention. Hogan has been in semiretirement for five years.

One of these was Dow Finsterwald, who would have had first place all to himself except for a bizarre retroactive two-stroke penalty slapped on by the rules committee. The others were Claude Harmon, a portly club professional from Mamaroneck, N.Y., and Walter Burkemo, pug-faced former PGA champion.

The field was so closely packed that the top 17 were bunched within four shots of each other and only ten shots separated Palmer from the last-place man of the 45 survivors.

Palmer, however, may be hard to overtake. At 30, he is strong as an ox, imperturbable and riding the crest of money-winning success. He also is getting favorable breaks in the rules decisions.

So far in the tournament he has had free-lifts on two imbedded balls and was not penalized for a practice swing he took on the 15th Friday. He wound up with a 73 to go with his earlier 67.

Finsterwald, a slender executive-type from Tequesta, Fla., was not so fortunate. He came in with a 70 following a first round 69, only to blow the whistle on himself in an unusual incident.

The former Athens, Ohio, player admitted that he had taken a practice putt on the fifth green of his first round Thursday, not realizing it violated local rules.

The rules say such a violation requires a two-stroke penalty.

CBS Will Televise Masters Play Sunday

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Play in the Masters Golf Tournament will be nationally televised by Columbia Broadcasting System Saturday and Sunday.

On Saturday, the matches will be on home screens between 5 and 6 p.m. (EST). On Sunday the time will be 4 to 5:30 p.m.

Celts, Hawks In Cage Final

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — The climactic National Basketball Assn. championship game today spotlights Bob Cousy and Bill Sharman — Boston's tiring 10-year veterans who once teamed with St. Louis Coach Ed Macauley.

The best-of-seven title series has gone the limit. Because the Hawks rallied three times to pull even in the competition, it becomes aone-shot, sudden death struggle at Boston Garden starting at 2:15 p. m.

Witnessing the showdown between the defending champion Celtics and challenging Hawks will be a sellout crowd of 13,909 plus a national television audience.

"This game is a matter of pride as well as ability with us," said Cousy summing up the Celtics' views. "I want this title so bad I can taste it. So I think we'll get it."

"I said before the series started if we could carry it into a seventh game we would have a very good chance to win it all," remarked Macauley.

Cousy and Sharman, who at times have shown the effects of the exhausting playoff grind, admit they must provide the Celtics' scoring "differential."

Patton Named As MVP In Junior Tournament

Bob Patton, a muscular, crew cut senior from Martins Ferry High School, headed a list of award winners named at the climax of the 13th annual Junior Basketball Tournament Friday night.

The 6-foot, 4-inch All - Eastern Ohio selection was named the most valuable player and landed a spot on the 10-member All-Tournament team selected by Blue and White Nonpareil Club directors.

Patton, a 190-pounder, was second high scorer for the tournament with 82 points in four games. The bashful, young giant was as equally as tough on defense in leading Roberts Drugs of Bridgeport to the 1960 championship.

Patton will perform for the South squad in the annual North-South All-Star cage classic this summer. He gained honorable mention on the 1960 All-Ohio squad and has had offers from Georgia Tech, Ohio State and Duquesne.

Youngstown Woodrow Wilson's great scorer, Nick Milasnovich, also reaped a lion's share of the awards. The 6-foot, 2-inch slender guard with a smooth overhead jump shot was the tourney's high scorer with 87 points. Milasnovich, who performed for Travelers Hotel, also landed a berth on the all-tournament squad.

A tie resulted for the best foul shot award as both Doug Kinnison of Roberts Drugs and Don Hout of Jones Market of Mansfield hit 9 of 11 attempts.

BOB PATTON
Ferry Star Most Valuable.

The six others voted to the select list were Milasnovich and Dave Hunter of Travelers Hotel, Nick Palotta and John Namciu of American Vitrified, Jack Byrnes of Eason Insurance, and Jerry Bohus of Jones Market of Mansfield.

Individual trophies were presented to the champion and runners-up squads while each got team trophies. The presentations were made by Ralph Musuraca, president of the Nonparil Club.

Co-chairmen of the tournament were Ed Hester and Dick Forzano. Coaches Rey Peduzzi and Bob Hedmond of East Liverpool High were scorer and timer, respectively.

Ohio Shows 10 In AAU Field

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Ohio boasted a fourth of the field today as 40 fighters went into the semi-finals of the national AAU boxing championships.

Most of the lesser lights and some of the brighter ones in the starting field of 119 were eliminated in the first two rounds. The heaviest losses were Petros Spanakos of Caldwell, Idaho, 119-pound Golden Gloves champion, and 206-pound Jimmy Blythe of Hartford, Conn., winner of the AAU heavyweight crown the last two years.

Spanakos, half of a twin-brother act in the competition, was outpointed by Oscar German of Muskegon, Mich. Blythe was eliminated by 196-pound Jimmie Jones, a 20-year-old filling station attendant from Chicago.

The scrappers, four in each of 10 divisions, will not know their semi-final opponents for tonight until the afternoon weigh-ins and drawings. Both the semifinals and finals will be staged tonight in three-round bouts—the semi-finals in two-minute stanzas and the championships in three -minute ones.

Defending champions still on hand are Bryan O'Shea of Chicago, 132 pounds; Quincey Daniels of Seattle, 139; Wilbert McClure of Toledo, 156; and Cassius Clay of Louisville, Ky. 178.

Along with Ohio's 10 entries, New York has 5, Michigan, 4; Colorado, Idaho and Illinois, 3 each; Louisiana, Pennsylvania and Washington, 2; and Utah, North Carolina, Massachusetts, Kansas, Kentucky and Alabama, 1 each.

New 'Classic' Division Slated In 1961's ABC

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — When next spring's American Bowling Congress tournament is held in Detroit, there will be a new "classic" division in which the pin-toppling professionals will be grouped.

Establishment of the "classic" division is the most radical change in the 57-year history of the ABC tournament. In addition to separating those who bowl for a hobby from those who bowl for a livelihood, the amendment is designed to attract bigger spectator gates at the ABC championships.

Six games will be involved in the team event, three on successive nights. This will give the big name teams two nights for drawing spectators, compared to the one they have under the system now in effect. The "classic" division teams will use lanes at the center of the arena, flanked by the open division teams on the same shift.

Open or booster division teams may, if they desire, compete in the professionals' division. Entry in the "classic" division will be mandatory for any team with two or more individuals in its lineup who have 190 averages and who earn their livelihood from the game.

Tournament competition Friday produced no changes in the top tens of the singles, doubles and all-events standings, but in the open team division Crossroads Lanes of Peoria, Ill., rolled into ninth place with a 3,004.

Score To Give Ailing Arm Big Test Today

Unless the former strikeout king can go four or five innings in good fashion, he's not going to be a part of the Indians regular starting pitching rotation at the opening of the American League season a week from Tuesday.

John Carroll U. Picks Keshock As Cage Coach

CLEVELAND (AP) — John Keshock of Youngstown, a 1955 graduate of John Carroll University, was selected Friday night by Carroll's athletic department to become the Blue Streaks' basketball coach.

The college president was expected to give official approval to Keshock's appointment today.

The 27-year-old Cardinal Mooney High School cage coach, was slated to replace Vito Kubilus whose Blue Streaks won the Presidents Athletic Conference championship in the season just ended with a 13-5 record. Kubilus had the job on a one-year, part-time basis.

Bond Is Most Exciting Rookie In Many Years

TUCSON — It's still too early to tell whether he's for real but right now the Cleveland Indians' slugging rookie outfielder, Walter Bond, 6-foot-6, is the most exciting youngster to be uncovered here in many a spring.

When people ask Manager Joe Gordon, "What about Bond?", the Cleveland pilot just grins and answers, "I don't know. But if this kid is just half as good as he looks, how can you not play him?

"Have you ever seen anyone make such an impression on the fans as this big fellow?" Gordon goes on. "He gives the fans a thrill just running down to first base. For a big guy, he moves very well and I think he can become a good outfielder in time."

There's no question but that Bond has been a most pleasant discovery here, particularly since his invitation to train with the Indians was extended only at the last moment when reserve outfielder Chuck Tanner suffered a serious injury while workng on his home this winter.

Regarded as a good prospect by Cleveland farm club officials last September after three years in the organization, Bond developed very fast this past fall and winter with the Tribe's club in the Florida Instructional League and then as a performer in the Nicaragua Winter League.

Walter's .336 batting average was among the top five in the Florida League in which many of the players were major league prospects who had played Class AAA and AA ball. He followed this up with a .389 mark in the Nicaragua League.

With the Indians this spring, Bond has been the club's leading hitter with a better than .400 average since he first broke into the lineup. Gordon has used him mainly in centerfield and while he has made mistakes in the field, he has displayed enough talent to lead Gordon to believe he could handle this position in time.

Bond has a mammoth stride which enables him to move exceptionally well for a man his size. Those giant steps of his as he moves around the base paths or in the outfield have quickly made him the favorite of the fans in the Indians' Cactus League games here.

A native of Denmark, Tenn., Bond attended Lane College at Jackson, Tenn. where he played varsity basketball and sandlot baseball in the summer months. Ted Rasberry, manager of the Kansas City Monarchs, signed him for his club in 1956 and Bond hit for a resounding .370 average in his initial season in the Negro American League.

Rasberry, a scout for the Indians, then recommended him to the Tribe and Bond was assigned to Cocoa of the Class D. Florida State League in 1957 where he hit .328, connected for 11 home runs and 80 runs batted in.

He was moved up to the Class B Burlington, N. C. club of the Carolina League in 1958 and there he hit 13 homers, had 70 RBI's and a batting average of .296.

Last summer he played for Reading, Pa. of the Class A. Eastern League, winding up with an average of .277 and 82 runs batted in. He had 17 doubles, 13 triples and 16 homers.

Bond credits his manager at Reading, Al Hollingsworth, with having helped improve his swing at the plate and believes that Hollingsworth's advice about cutting down his wild swinging is the major factor in his success since playing for Reading.

Bond himself seems very confident that his hitting barrage for the Indians is no fluke and that he can hit well enough to stay with the club. Just after an enemy pitcher has made him look bad on a curve or slider, Bond will line the same pitch out of the park next time up.

Jerry West To Marry WVU Coed On Sunday

MORGANTOWN (AP) — West Virginia basketball All-America Jerry West will be married tomorrow in a quiet ceremony on the WVU campus.

West said plans for a honey-moon are indefinite. "We may wait until after school," he declared.

M/Sgt. H. L. (Joe) Benner is coaching West Point's pistol team for the seventh season. He has won three world pistol titles.

Clark KO'd, But Confusion Marks Ending

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Did Lamar Clark get knocked out or did the referee step in too quickly in Clark's rousing brawl with young Bartolo Soni of the Dominican Republic?

Ringside fans, managers, and probably a lot of TV viewers are wondering about that after the confused ending of the televised (NBC) bout here Friday night.

Officially, the 181½ - pound Soni was credited with a knockout in 2:02 of the ninth round. The loss ended Clark's record knockout streak at 44 straight and was his first ring defeat in 46 pro bouts.

It was even harder for Clark to take because he was ahead on all the judges' cards and could have taken the decision by merely finishing. However, the bull-shouldered Soni lashed out with a flurry of hooking uppercuts which nailed Clark. When the strong boy from Cedar City, Utah, hit the canvas his head bounced.

To some fans, it seemed Clark, 182, was up before Referee Ken Shulsen finished the count. But Shulsen took Clark by the hand, waved Soni off and led Clark to a corner. Later Shulsen said he had finished the count and besides, he said Clark appeared to be out on his feet.

Shulsen had Clark ahead on points at the end of the eighth round, 79-74; Judge Del Markham had it 79-73; Judge Bob Yocum scored it 80-72 and The Associated Press had Clark ahead, 79-73.

The victory gives Soni a 15-2-1 record. However, his matches were against better opponents than Clark has faced.

Archery Shoot Sunday

A 56-target field round shoot will be held by the Midland Archers Sunday at 11:30 a. m. at the Midland Sportsmen's Farm. Three trophies in each class will be awarded. Refreshments will be served.

Canadiens Choice To Make It Two Straight Tonight

MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens are heavily favored to make it two straight over the Toronto Maple Leafs tonight in the National Hockey League's best-of-seven final series for the Stanley Cup. But any talk of four straight was discouraged by Canadian Coach Toe Blake.

"I sure don't want to hear any talk about four straight," said Blake after resting his regulars Friday and sending only six players through a light workout. "We can lose the next four, too. This is a sport where one unlucky bounce of the puck can change all those odds."

Toronto Coach Punch Imlach was in agreement regarding the series going more than four straight.

"They got the breaks in the first game," said Imlach. "Sooner or later we're going to get them, too. You can bet all the money in New York that we're not going to lose in four. Remember we were one game down to Detroit in the semifinals and we came back. We're going to do the same thing against the Canadiens."

The third and fourth games of the series will be played in Toronto next Tuesday and Thursday.

The "eighth pole" at race tracks is located one eighth of a mile from the finish line. Most tracks have "sixteenth poles" and "quarter mile poles."

Another sizzling National League pennant race, perhaps even another playoff, was in prospect today as the senior circuit girded itself for the opening of the major league baseball season Tuesday.

For the first time in ages, the National League will have the play and the ballyhoo all to itself. The American League will open its season a week later.

A capacity crowd of 42,549 already is assured at San Francisco's new Candlestick Park where the Giants will entertain the improved St. Louis Cardinals. Sam Jones (21-15), ace of the Giants' staff probably will oppose Larry Jackson (14-13).

Upwards of 43,000 Milwaukeeans are expected to watch last year's runner-up Braves, under new manager Chuck Dressen, take on the Pittsburgh Pirates at County Stadium. Warren Spahn (21-15), top-winning southpaw in National League history, will face veteran right-hander, Bob Friend (8-19).

A traditional opening day Cincinnati sellout of 31,000 will see the Reds' Jim Brosnan (9-6) or ex-American Leaguer Cal McLish (19-8) oppose the venerable Philadelphia Phillies' right-hander Robin Roberts (15-17).

The most prolific trading in years has resulted in major changes on every club except the Dodgers and Braves. The Giants, who came close last year, appear to have helped themselves the most and look like the strongest club. Las Vegas gambling odds, however, favor Milwaukee.

Reds Will Give Rookie Gonzalez Right Field Try

In an exhibition game against Milwaukee, he promptly showed the reason for the Reds to gamble on him: He hit safely once in three tries and batted in a run on a sacrifice fly.

Runs were hard for the Reds to find and Milwaukee won, 6-3.

It was back in the International League playoffs last season that scout Buzz Boyle spotted Gonzalez, a chunky, rock-hard Haitian, only 5-feet-7 tall.

His report:

"He is a major league outfielder defensively right now. He hits some tremendous shots with that bat."

"The kid sure looks like a natural," says Manager Fred Hutchinson. "He's been hitting the ball where it is pitched and has good power to all fields."

Giants And White Sox Are Pennant Favorites

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants, heavy favorites to win the National League pennant, also will have the league's most valuable player in Willie Mays and the winningest pitcher in Sam Jones, according to the nation's baseball writers.

In an annual pre-season poll, compiled by The Associated Press today, 169 members of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America also selected Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees as the American League's probable MVP and Bob Shaw of the pennant-favored Chicago White Sox as the winningest pitcher.

The writers, who picked San Francisco, Milwaukee and the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers 1-2-3 in the 1960 NL pennant race, selected Mays over Hank Aaron of the Braves by approximately a 3-2 margin in the MVP balloting. Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, who won an unprecedented second consecutive MVP award in the official NL writers' vote last year, was ranked third in the poll.

Mays led with 60 votes. Aaron collected 42 and Banks 11 as the writers nominated 15 players in The AP poll.

Mantle, already a two-time American League MVP winner, drew 32 votes, compared to 29 by the White Sox' Nellie Fox, last year's official winner. Rocky Colavito of the Cleveland Indians polled 23 votes.

The writers picked Jones as the big winner of the NL season by a decided margin over Don Drysdale of Los Angeles, Warren Spahn of Milwaukee and Sad Sam's teammate, Johnny Antonelli. Jones drew 35 votes, Drysdale 22, Spahn 21 and Antonelli 20.

Among pitchers in the American League, where the writers predicted another Chicago, Cleveland, New York finish, Shaw had a 34-20 vote edge over teammate Early Wynn.

Betsy Rawls Sets Golf Event Pace

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Swinging an unerring putter, Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., led the $6,500 Babe Zaharias Open by two strokes going into the second round today.

Miss Rawls, seeking her second straight championship, shot a 6-under-par 67 Friday in capturing the first-round lead over Louise Suggs of Cincinnati, a two-time winner here, and Joyce Ziske of Milwaukee. They had 69s over the 6,153-yard Beaumont Country Club course.

Of the 24 professionals who started the 54-hole tournament 10 bettered par.

Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif., and Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, each had 70 while Gloria Armstrong of Oakland and Wiffi Smith of St. Clair, Mich., shot 71s.

Ron Stehouwer, 237-pound senior tackle for Colorado State University, has been drafted for the 1960 season by the Detroit Lions.

Spahn, Musial, Banks Primed

NL Stars All Ready To Go

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Spahn's ready. So's Musial. And Boyer and Banks and Roberts and Drysdale, and Willie McCovey, too.

They're ready for next Tuesday when the National League opens the 1960 major league season.

Warren Spahn, Milwaukee's veteran left-hander, worked four innings Friday. He gave up only one run to the Cincinnati Reds as the Braves won 6-3 at Nashville.

The Cardinals' Stan Musial, who could win comeback of the year honors, hit his fourth spring homer to spark a St. Louis rally that beat the Cubs 6-4 at Mesa. Teammate Ken Boyer added a homer in the ninth inning.

Ernie Banks, the National League's most valuable player two straight years, homered for Chicago. It was his ninth of the spring.

Robin Roberts worked six scoreless innings against minor league opposition at Hollywood, Fla., wrapping up a 4-0 Philadelphia victory over Indianapolis of the American Assn.

Don Drysdale of Los Angeles pitched five scoreless innings and struck out six San Francisco Giants at Bakersfield, Calif. But McCovey, a sophomore question mark most of the spring, hit his third homer in four days to key a five-run eighth-inning rally that won it for the Giants 7-3.

Pittsburgh was idle Friday. So were Boston and Cleveland in the American League but the other six played.

The Washington Senators ended New York's three-game winning streak, 8-0 at Orlando, Camilo Pascual and Jack Kralick pitched it.

The Detroit Tigers worked over Chicago's Billy Pierce for five runs in the second and third innings, but it took a 10th-inning single by Gail Harris for a 6-5 Tiger victory.

Ronnie Hansen staked a new claim on Baltimore's starting shortstop job. He got three hits and two RBIs as the Orioles whipped Kansas City 5-3.

Midland Bows In Track To Beaver Falls

Each team won six first places, but Beaver Falls followed up with a surplus of second and thirds to gain a 71½-41½ victory over Midland High's track team in the opener for both squads Friday afternoon at Midland.

Coach Larry Novak's Midland thinclads will oppose the East Liverpool High track team of Bob Hedmond Tuesday at Patterson Field, weather permitting.

John Chuldenko, fleet freshman, starred for Midland by capturing the 100-yard dash in 10.6 seconds and the 220-yard dash in 25.5 seconds.

Martin Schulte of Midland won the 120-yard low hurdle run in 15.5 and teammate Tom Benek won the broad jump with a leap of 1-feet, 2½ inches.

Veteran Rudy Krivoshia was Midland's other individual first place winner. Krivoshia won the pole vault event with a 9½-feet effort.

A quartet of Chuldenko, Bolland, Spanik and Copeland of Midland won the 880-yard relay race in a time of 1:41.5. Joe Neidera was a double winner for Beaver Falls with victories in the mile and the 880-yard run.

Tompion Has Final Workout For Derby

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Tompion, the future book favorite to win the Kentucky Derby, has had his final workout and flies tonight to Lexington, Ky.

The C. V. Whitney thoroughbred breezed a mile in 1:39 3-5 Friday at Hollywood Park with exercise boy John Donoho in the saddle.

Girl's Volleyball Tournament Is Set April 22 At YMCA

The annual invitational high school girls volleyball tournament will be staged April 22 at the YMCA.

The Potterettes are the defending champions and won the round-robin tourney for the past two years. A victory this year would give the Potterettes the three-year trophy.

In addition to the trophy, emblems will be awarded to the winning team.

This marks the third year the tournament has been sponsored by the YMCA. Schools who have not mailed in their invitation are urged to do so next week.

Lee Walls, outfielder obtained by Cincinnati from the Cubs last December, hit only .256 in 1959 but in 1958 he hit .304 and drove 24 homers.

The San Francisco Giants, heavy favorites to win the National League pennant, also will have the league's most valuable player in Willie Mays and the winningest pitcher in Sam Jones, according to the nation's baseball writers.

In an annual pre-season poll, compiled by The Associated Press today, 169 members of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America also selected Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees as the American League's probable MVP and Bob Shaw of the pennant-favored Chicago White Sox as the winningest pitcher.

The writers, who picked San Francisco, Milwaukee and the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers 1-2-3 in the 1960 NL pennant race, selected Mays over Hank Aaron of the Braves by approximately a 3-2 margin in the MVP balloting. Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs, who won an unprecedented second consecutive MVP award in the official NL writers' vote last year, was ranked third in the poll.

Mays led with 60 votes. Aaron collected 42 and Banks 11 as the writers nominated 15 players in The AP poll.

Mantle, already a two-time American League MVP winner, drew 32 votes, compared to 29 by the White Sox' Nellie Fox, last year's official winner. Rocky Colavito of the Cleveland Indians polled 23 votes.

The writers picked Jones as the big winner of the NL season by a decided margin over Don Drysdale of Los Angeles, Warren Spahn of Milwaukee and Sad Sam's teammate, Johnny Antonelli. Jones drew 35 votes, Drysdale 22, Spahn 21 and Antonelli 20.

Among pitchers in the American League, where the writers predicted another Chicago, Cleveland, New York finish, Shaw had a 34-20 vote edge over teammate Early Wynn.

Driver Cited On 2 Charges

An East End youth was cited by police on two charges as the aftermath of an accident Friday night about 6 in the West End in which no one was injured. It was one of four reported to police yesterday.

James E. Tilley, 19, of 505 Virginia Ave. is due for a Municipal Court hearing on charges of failing to stop in the assured clear distance and driving a motor vehicle without an operator's license.

Tilley was charged after his car rammed the rear of an auto operated by Barbara Hutton, 36, of 460 Mulberry St., which was halted at W. 8th and Chestnut Sts. for a traffic signal. Tilley told police the brakes failed on the car owned by Harold Hamlet of the River Rd.

A collision at 2:38 p. m. at Walnut and E. 4th Sts. damaged cars operated by Juanita Weingartner, 38, of Carolina Ave. and Georgia C. Emmerling, 1523 Lisbon St., police said.

Mrs. Emmerling told police she was headed west on E. 4th St. and had stopped at the intersection. Unable to see north because of a parked truck, she pulled out and collided with Mrs. Weingartner, headed south on Walnut St.

An auto and a pickup truck were damaged in another crash a block away shortly after 4 p. m., officers said.

Amelia A. Smith, 57, of North St., Salineville, said she put her car into reverse by mistake while stopped in traffic at E. 4th St. and Broadway and backed into the truck driven by Andrew C. Lynn, 29, of Lisbon R. D. 3.

Dorothy M. Lockhart, 35, of 5th Ave., LaCroft, told police the taillight on her car was damaged when struck by another southbound car last night on St. Clair Ave. The woman said she attempted to make a turn into Welch Alley when her car was hit. She gave police the license number of the other car.

A question - and - answer period followed.

LISBON — Council will meet Monday night at 7:30 in the Village Hall with routine business scheduled, according to Mayor Dean Stockman.

50 Attend City Hall Fete

Retired Auditor's Aide Honored

Retiring after 20 years' service, Miss Gladys Rinehart exchanged a general handshake Friday afternoon with all three men who held the city auditor's office during her employment.

Fifty fellow officials and employes at City Hall paid tribute to Miss Rinehart, who wound up her duties today preparatory to retirement.

Miss Rinehart was praised by all three men whom she served in the auditor's office. McKeever appointed her on Jan. 1, 1940.

Tribute also was paid to her in short remarks by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, Dr. E. G. Kuhlman, city health commissioner; O. Earl Greenawalt, former mayor and Municipal Court bailiff, and Frank K. Robinson, superintendent of the city water works department.

Mayor Goodballet presented Miss Rinehart with a fitted overnight case, a gift from her fellow-workers. She also was presented with flowers and other tokens.

Mayor Goodballet praised Miss Rinehart "for your long years of service and helpfulness to everyone." McKeever, who also was mayor, praised Miss Rinehart as "capable and efficient" and added: "She made a lot of friends."

Gallimore commented, "it always was a great pleasure to work with her" and wished Miss Rinehart happiness in her retirement. Greenawalt added that "she always went out of her way to be helpful" and added that "she always was a good worker and a friend of everyone." Applegate called Miss Rinehart "a lovely person" and said "I hate to see her go."

"It seems like only yesterday was Jan. 1, 1940, and I came in here as a 'greenhorn'," Miss Rinehart said. "I can't realize that it is 1960 and I am retiring."

McKeever, Gallimore and Greenawalt returned to City Hall especially for the farewell party. Several other former officials and workers returned, including Miss Mary McNicol, retired water department employe, and Mrs. Bernice Foester, former City Hall receptionist.

Ice cream, cake and coffee was served at the farewell party, held in the office of Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver. The cakes were enscribed: "Best Wishes, Gladys."

Miss Rinehart is beginning a three-week vacation. Her retirement takes effect May 1. She is entitled to a pension under the Public Employes Retirement System.

Community Service Stressed By State Legion Commander

The importance of community service was emphasized by Bonn Brown of Elkins, department commander, at an anniversary banquet of American Legion Post 114 of Newell Friday night.

About 75 attended the dinner which marked the anniversary observance of the Legion and honored Brown and past commanders of the Newell post. Brown was making his first official visit to Post 114.

Other officials present included Harlin Worls of Wheeling, department first vice commander; Karl Rinehart of Weirton, commander of the 1st District; Carl Yarling of Wellsburg, department re-habilitation chairman; Mrs. Lillie B. Spiro of Fairmont, 1st District president of the auxiliary, and Charles Morris of Chester, grande chef de gare of the 40 & 8 Society in West Virginia.

Past commanders honored were Anthony F. Laneve, Edward Hupp, George Laneve, Herbert Eddy and Dewayne Staley. Paul Mosher, commander, served as toastmaster.

A picture of the post's first commander — the late Harold Russell —was presented Mosher by Mrs. Mae Hupp, a past president of the auxiliary. Russell, who died in California, served as commander in 1947. The picture completed a collection of past commanders for the post home.

Gifts were presented Brown and Mrs. Spiro. Tommy Jones, department adjutant, was scheduled to attend but was called to Miami, Fla., to arrange housing for the national convention.

Dinner was prepared and served by the auxiliary.

Man Lands On Tracks In Embankment Fall

An East End man was admitted to City Hospital late Friday afternoon after he was found lying on the eastbound railroad tracks, but was discharged a few hours later.

Police said Cecil E. White, 50, of 573 Railroad St. was taken to the hospital about 3:45 p. m. after being spotted on the eastbound tracks by Roy E. Duffield, 1524 Commerce St., Wellsville, a brakeman on a yard engine.

Duffield and other crew members removed White from the tracks and summoned police, who sent him to the hospital. White apparently fell down an embankment about 75 yards west of Beleek St., authorities said.

EXTEND LIFE OF OLD LINOLEUM

When you apply this glaze like non slippery coating to your linoleum you'll be amazed at it's beauty. If your linoleum is getting old and you think it must be replaced try Glaxo first. It seals out dirt and is applied but once or twice a year. Glaxo is a transparent coating that ends waxing.—Milligan's.

Driver Cited On 2 Charges

An East End youth was cited by police on two charges as the aftermath of an accident Friday night about 6 in the West End in which no one was injured. It was one of four reported to police yesterday.

James E. Tilley, 19, of 505 Virginia Ave. is due for a Municipal Court hearing on charges of failing to stop in the assured clear distance and driving a motor vehicle without an operator's license.

Tilley was charged after his car rammed the rear of an auto operated by Barbara Hutton, 36, of 460 Mulberry St., which was halted at W. 8th and Chestnut Sts. for a traffic signal. Tilley told police the brakes failed on the car owned by Harold Hamlet of the River Rd.

A collision at 2:38 p. m. at Walnut and E. 4th Sts. damaged cars operated by Juanita Weingartner, 38, of Carolina Ave. and Georgia C. Emmerling, 1523 Lisbon St., police said.

Mrs. Emmerling told police she was headed west on E. 4th St. and had stopped at the intersection. Unable to see north because of a parked truck, she pulled out and collided with Mrs. Weingartner, headed south on Walnut St.

An auto and a pickup truck were damaged in another crash a block away shortly after 4 p. m., officers said.

Amelia A. Smith, 57, of North St., Salineville, said she put her car into reverse by mistake while stopped in traffic at E. 4th St. and Broadway and backed into the truck driven by Andrew C. Lynn, 39, of Lisbon R. D. 3.

Dorothy M. Lockhart, 35, of 5th Ave., LaCroft, told police the taillight on her car was damaged when struck by another southbound car last night on St. Clair Ave. The woman said she attempted to make a turn into Welch Alley when her car was hit. She gave police the license number of the other car.

50 Attend City Hall Fete

Retired Auditor's Aide Honored

Retiring after 20 years' service, Miss Gladys Rinehart exchanged a general handshake Friday afternoon with all three men who held the city auditor's office during her employment.

Fifty fellow officials and employes at City Hall paid tribute to Miss Rinehart, who wound up her duties today preparatory to retirement.

Miss Rinehart was praised by all three men whom she served in the auditor's office. McKeever appointed her on Jan. 1, 1940.

Tribute also was paid to her in short remarks by Mayor Bert H. Goodballet, Dr. E. G. Kuhlman, city health commissioner; O. Earl Greenawalt, former mayor and Municipal Court bailiff, and Frank K. Robinson, superintendent of the city water works department.

Mayor Goodballet presented Miss Rinehart with a fitted overnight case, a gift from her fellow-workers. She also was presented with flowers and other tokens.

Mayor Goodballet praised Miss Rinehart "for your long years of service and helpfulness to everyone." McKeever, who also was mayor, praised Miss Rinehart as "capable and efficient" and added: "She made a lot of friends."

Gallimore commented, "it always was a great pleasure to work with her" and wished Miss Rinehart happiness in her retirement. Greenawalt added that "she always went out of her way to be helpful" and added that "she always was a good worker and a friend of everyone." Applegate called Miss Rinehart "a lovely person" and said "I hate to see her go."

"It seems like only yesterday was Jan. 1, 1940, and I came in here as a 'greenhorn'," Miss Rinehart said. "I can't realize that it is 1960 and I am retiring."

McKeever, Gallimore and Greenawalt returned to City Hall especially for the farewell party. Several other former officials and workers returned, including Miss Mary McNicol, retired water department employe, and Mrs. Bernice Foester, former City Hall receptionist.

Ice cream, cake and coffee was served at the farewell party, held in the office of Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver. The cakes were enscribed: "Best Wishes, Gladys."

Miss Rinehart is beginning a three-week vacation. Her retirement takes effect May 1. She is entitled to a pension under the Public Employes Retirement System.

The unknown story of

LINCOLN'S TOMB

By GEORGE L. CASHMAN

Curator, Lincoln's Tomb, Springfield, Ill.

as told to Bernard Asbell

LIGHTNING, which they say never strikes twice, has in the last decade twice struck and damaged the tomb of Abraham Lincoln in Springfield, Ill.

I'm not a bit surprised. For the past nine years, I have been curator of the Lincoln Tomb, observing what a strange—and oftentimes stormy—place it is.

For example, before I became curator I considered myself something of a Lincoln expert. My wife and I have given scores of lectures on the Great Emancipator. But if we were to believe what some visitors have "taught" us about Lincoln, we'd throw all the history books out the window.

Several tourists have tried to convince us, for instance, that Lincoln is not buried in the tomb at all. One insisted that he was sure Lincoln was buried in France, another said at sea, another at Arlington. Still another was absolutely sure the body had been stolen and never recovered. It happens this misguided chap was almost right; but that's a story I'll get into later.

I don't mean to give the impression that our visitors are mostly pests; far from it. Most of the 2,700 visitors we average in a day—including kings, presidents, and scholars—come with a reverent curiosity about the most interesting man America has produced. But occasionally there are odd people and odd incidents—it's been that way since Lincoln died April 15, 1865.

For a time, it seemed there was never to be peace around Lincoln's resting place. While Lincoln's funeral train was still journeying mournfully from Washington, 15 of his friends in Springfield began to raise money for a suitable tomb. They contracted for a plot of ground in downtown Springfield. On the morning of the funeral, word came from Mrs. Lincoln, who remained in Washington in a state of near-shock, forbidding even temporary interment there. She demanded that her husband be buried in nearby Oak Ridge Cemetery.

Instead of obeying the widow's wishes, the committee placed the body in a temporary vault while they deliberated. Finally, Mrs. Lincoln threatened that if her late husband were not buried in Oak Ridge she would petition Congress to place the remains in a vault prepared but never used for George Washington under the Capitol dome. After days of bitter debate, the committee finally gave in to the widow.

From 1865 to 1874, when the tomb in Oak Ridge was completed, Lincoln's body was moved four times from one temporary vault to another until it was made secure—everybody thought—in the permanent tomb.

Two years later, one of the most bizarre events in American history took place when three men from Chicago conspired to steal Lincoln's body. They planned to haul the body in a sack for reburial in the northern Indiana sand dunes!

Except for one hitch, the body snatchers apparently would have gotten away with it. The hitch was that one of the trio was an informer for the United States Secret Service.

As I have pieced it together, here is a summary of the weird tale:

AFTER the Civil War, counterfeiting of currency was a thriving business. One of the most talented engravers of counterfeit plates, Ben Boyd, was arrested in October, 1875, and sentenced to 10 years. One of his accomplices, Jack Hughes of Chicago, also was arrested and released on bond.

The head of the Secret Service in Chicago, Patrick D. Tyrrell, assigned one of his operatives, Lewis Swegles, to win the trust of Hughes in an attempt to trap other counterfeiters. Swegles befriended Hughes and got an introduction to the "boss," Terrence Mullins. Hughes and Mullins then offered Swegles a part in a fantastic scheme to steal the body of Abraham Lincoln and hold it for ransom of $200,000 plus the release of their engraver, Ben Boyd. Secret Service-man Tyrrell, astonished at the daring of the plot, instructed Swegles to join them.

As the plan evolved, Swegles' chief tasks were to act as a lookout and, after removal of the body, to drive a cart to the tomb. He prearranged with Tyrrell that he would strike a match outside the tomb at the best moment for catching them red-handed.

At the appointed hour on the dark, muggy night of Nov. 7, 1876, Tyrrell and his party were hiding in a room in the front of the seemingly deserted monument. They heard the thieves break in and watched for the flare of Swegles' match. No flare. They heard hammering against the marble sarcophagus. Still no flare.

MEANWHILE, in the burial chamber, Swegles had been foiled by a change in the plan. Instead of standing outside as lookout, he had been ordered by Mullins to stay in the rear of the burial chamber to hold a lantern. After great labor, Hughes and Mullins opened the sarcophagus, exposing the coffin. Mullins finally dispatched Swegles to bring up the cart.

Swegles circled the monument while Mullins and Hughes withdrew and hid near an oak tree about 100 feet away, awaiting the cart. When Swegles finally struck his match, Tyrrell and his men dashed to the burial chamber. They found it empty and the sarcophagus dismantled.

From their hiding place, Mullins and Hughes saw the lawmen close in. Assuming Swegles had been captured, Mullins and Hughes fled the cemetery. A few days later, however, Swegles tracked them down and they were arrested.

It is appalling to realize that the only serious mistake made by the culprits was their choice of a confederate. Today, Lincoln's body is in a hermetically sealed casket enclosed in a 27-ton steel-and-concrete vault 10 feet below the floor of the tomb.

Still, the most frequent question I am asked by visitors is "May we see him?" One couple, a few months ago, insisted that friends of theirs had been escorted to the basement to view the Great Emancipator. They insisted I accord them the same privilege.

But Mr. Lincoln's resting place is now totally secure—even from tourists.

At 85, our longest-lived ex-President spends his hours in vital work and proves age can have its own fulfillments

HERBERT HOOVER TELLS WHY:

I DON'T BELIEVE IN RETIREMENT

By ALFRED BALK

NOT LONG AGO a reporter was listing individuals to interview for a story on leisure and retirement. Near the top he wrote, "Herbert Hoover." On checking, however, he scratched out the name. Not only is Mr. Hoover, at 85, not retired—he's so busy it's a feat to get an appointment with him.

Our oldest living ex-President needn't continue working a 10-hour day. He earned a fortune years ago (and never has accepted a salary from the Government). Yet he chooses work. And his "retirement" achievements to date have been prodigious.

In 1946, for example, at the age of 72, he was called by President Harry S. Truman to organize postwar relief efforts in 39 countries. One associate still recalls how "The Chief" worked hours in an unheated room in Germany, bundled in blankets and holding a phone in a mitten-clad hand.

At 73, he began the unprecedented task of directing the first and second Hoover Commission studies, both Congressionally established and approved, of our Government's executive branch. When he finished, he was 80.

Long a champion of the Boys' Clubs of America, Mr. Hoover (himself a former poor boy) has been largely responsible, as chairman, for boosting the number of clubs five-fold. He has raised at least $75 million for various causes in recent years and has served on so many educational and charitable boards that his associates have lost track.

Already author of a shelfful of books, including a best seller about a Democratic President, "The Ordeal of Woodrow Wilson," he is writing three more, part of a series on American citizens' world-wide relief efforts.

His suite in the Waldorf-Astoria Towers in New York City at times seems as busy as his former office in the White House. He has six secretaries. Both the hotel and his staff screen a stream of telephone calls. (In contrast, I phoned Independence, Mo., one day with a question and got former President Truman direct.) Meanwhile, the white-haired, square-shouldered "Chief," serenely puffing a pipe, pushes on through his busy schedule, remaining punctual almost to the second.

In addition, Mr. Hoover squeezes in periodic doses of recreation. Each year, for instance, he tries to go fishing at least once, perhaps in Oregon or Florida. On occasion, he attends banquets or parties. Last summer, he attended an Old-Timers Day baseball game at Yankee Stadium.

A Typical Day's Work

Mr. Hoover rises at 7 a.m. (He lives in New York except in summer, when he moves to the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco.) He tunes in radio or TV news, shaves and dresses (he employs no valet), and by 8 o'clock or earlier he is reading the New York morning papers in full.

For breakfast at 9 (the hotel prepares all his meals), he usually has invited guests. Within an hour, he is at his desk to check mail (it averages 250 letters a day). He jots down replies by hand. Then he has appointments concerning the Boys' Clubs, or some of the dozen institutions he actively helps guide or manage.

On many days, his time is devoted to his three books, for which he personally is examining 400,000 papers, charts, and documents. He employs no ghost writer; he writes every word in pencil in longhand. When he tires, he stands and stretches.

Lunch is at 1 p.m. in his dining room; again Mr. Hoover has guests. By 2, he usually is in his room for a nap. Within an hour he is working again. The evening papers are brought in about 6. Dinner at 7:30, again with guests.

(There also are periodic family visits. His wife died in 1944, but he has two sons, both engineers, Allan Henry and Herbert, Jr., the latter an ex-undersecretary of state; six grandchildren; and nine great-grandchildren.)

After dinner, he may resume work. "We know he works at night sometimes," says chief secretary Bernice Miller, "because we find things on our desks in the morning." Usually, though, dinner is followed by conversations with friends; canasta or gin rummy; or possibly TV, if a special public-affairs show or baseball game is on.

How does the ex-President maintain such a schedule? Why?

After a visit to his office, talks with friends and associates, and an examination of his own comments, I am convinced the secret of Mr. Hoover's vigor and longevity is an unorthodox four-point "nonretirement" philosophy.

He has never set it down, as such. Nevertheless, it can be formalized.

Hoover's Four-Point Plan

1. Regardless of age, only work can make you feel worthwhile.

"Any oldster who keeps at even part-time work," he says, "has something worth talking about. He has a zest for the morning paper and his three meals a day. The point of all this is not to retire from work or you will shrivel into a nuisance to all mankind."

2. Keeping busy aids an oldster's health.

Although Mr. Hoover's physical condition has been above average, it has not been perfect. At 83, he underwent surgery for a gall-bladder condition. But despite the gravity of surgery at his age, within weeks he was up and busy, though at reduced speed. That summer he was President Eisenhower's delegate to the Brussels World Fair, where he delivered a major address. Without such jobs to look forward to, friends say, Mr. Hoover's recovery might have gone more slowly—and probably caused him considerably more discomfort.

3. Your effort counts, no matter who you are.

A Quaker by birth, Mr. Hoover always has believed strongly in service. He first came to public attention when Woodrow Wilson named him food administrator for hard-pressed people in Europe in World War I. He thinks the world always has more jobs to do than people to do them.

"Nobody has a right to retire," Mr. Hoover believes. "You should take some job that will benefit the community, even if you cannot get paid for it. There is not a town that does not need helpers."

Suppose no job falls your way?

"I have been retired either by force or voluntarily from many jobs," he says. "I have always been able to find another one."

4. Only in "retirement" years can you really "give back" to the world.

Herbert Hoover once was the most famous mining engineer in the world; this earned him a fortune. He credits education for his success, and the United States for the kind of life he has enjoyed—including his longevity.

In the freedom of his later years, he has striven to repay what he considers this "debt any successful person owes" to society.

"Repaying that," he says, "has brought me my greatest satisfaction."

In working through his twilight years, does Mr. Hoover fear he is missing something?

Emphatically not. He never has believed happiness lay in leisure. In fact, when an insurance-executive friend prescribed as a rule for happiness, "Work a little harder, work a little longer, work," Mr. Hoover wrote a letter seconding it with: "Sound advice."

Thus he has come to his golden years in happiness, and become the longest-lived ex-President in history. Why then, wonders Herbert Hoover, should he change now?

SINCE TRENDS in furniture are as changeable as chameleons, one of the nicest things about the 1960 designs is that they won't soon go out of date. Whether you are adding to your furnishings or starting from scratch, their simplicity makes the task delightfully easy.

Outstanding in the new collections is an extensive walnut group, which combines the unadorned Danish feeling with the classic curves of contemporary Italian styles. Included in this group are storage pieces which have the remarkable versatility of being equally at home in living room, dining room, or bedroom.

There are wonderful area rugs whose bold colors complement the straight-line modern mood without overpowering it. (Here, it's important to remember to buy a bright rug first and decorate around it.) Lamps, too, seem to have more variety than ever before. The marvelous point of this spring's line is that its understated appearance fits in anywhere and will endure.

Here is no cry of the huckster, no barker selling tickets and badges. Here is the calm of the cathedral, the endless rooms illuminated by their repeated interpretations of a Man who lived and died. And lived again.

The people who came to see Him as He was seen in other centuries by other eyes are common folk. Some of them are dusted by miles of travel. Some of them are marked by Florida sun and wind. And some are too poor to come on any day except the Sabbath when the great gates are open free to any man.

They walk here and see Christ born on canvas, Christ healing the blind in marble, and they do not laugh nor eat popcorn nor speak among themselves except as they might find necessary in a place of worship.

Among them is a woman who came on crutches and lifted herself and her spirit up the stone steps.

How to pick a power mower

There is a big difference in power mowers that goes past the price tag, beyond the pretty paint. Certainly price is important. That's why some mowers are made to sell for less. But where value is concerned, even high price is no guarantee. How do you know you're getting your money's worth? Don't settle for sales talks. Find out for yourself fast, with the six-step test for power mower buyers.

Take any power mower. Look it over. Lift it. Start it. Listen to it. Then look at LAWN-BOY. Measured by any yardstick, this is the mower built for value! The nationally known, nationally serviced brand. The one that sets a standard others would like to live up to. This time, get more mower for your money! Go LAWN-BOY! Wide selection for every kind of lawn, starting at $59.95.

SIX-STEP TEST OF A MODERN POWER MOWER

Standard to judge any power mower by—before you buy!

1. TILT the mower, as you would to clean it or to mow along a hillside. Oil should not leak out or spill. A drip-free LAWN-BOY mower keeps oil in the engine for full-time lubrication.

2. FLEX the blade. It should be pre-stressed, under tension. A long, whippy blade cuts unevenly, can cause crankshaft damage. LAWN-BOY uses a short, hard shaft, with bronze main bearings.

3. TAP blade housing. It should be solid as a rock . . . yet lightweight. Thin steel stamped housings will vibrate, can spring out of shape. LAWN-BOY light, strong, durable aluminum housings never do.

4. LIFT the mower. It should be light, easy to push or turn. Not too big, not too heavy. LAWN-BOY is aluminum-light, nimble and comfortable to use. Even the handle is designed to fit you better.

5. START the engine. Several times. Starting should be easy, fast, sure. LAWN-BOY is famous for fast starting. Hottest ignition spark on any mower delivers years of easy one-pull starting.

6. LISTEN to it. Does it roar? Or spit fumes a step ahead of you? It shouldn't. LAWN-BOY has the biggest mufflers of any power mower. And exhaust is under the mower, away from you.

AT LAST! Complete automatic lawn care in one modern mower! New LAWN-BOY Grass Catcher rakes and sweeps as it mows!

Ask for a free demonstration on your own lawn today. Look in the "Yellow Pages" under Lawn Mowers for your nearest LAWN-BOY Dealer, or write LAWN-BOY direct.

WHO SAYS I'VE CHANGED?

This picture profile of her career from singer to Hollywood's top female star shows that the years have indeed transformed her; yet, in another sense, she's still the same fresh-looking "girl next door"

By DORIS DAY

OF COURSE I've changed since coming to Hollywood. I'd be worried about myself if I hadn't. After all, what woman—or man, for that matter—doesn't change in a dozen years? Whether she's living in New York, Hollywood, or Pocatello; whether she's a homemaker, social worker, or actress? It's all part of maturing, of getting a wider grasp on life.

It's true that I live in a bigger house, have a larger wardrobe, and entertain more than before, but this is the result of hard work and good fortune. When Marty Melcher and I were first married, we lived in the San Fernando Valley. Two years ago, we moved to a larger home in Beverly Hills. It was built and furnished in the old Spanish style, but we turned it into a rambling Palm Springs type house which we furnished in a mixture of modern country and French provincial. Now who hasn't yearned for a more spacious home and switched allegiance from one school of interior decoration to another?

Another subject I'm frequently asked about is my change from musical to dramatic roles. At the beginning of my movie career, I was happy to be a singer and never thought much about serious acting. Then the whole complexion of the industry changed. Musicals went out, carrying many of the singing and dancing stars with them, so I turned to nonsinging roles. I kept on working in films, and I found a deeper sense of accomplishment in straight acting.

However, singing is still my life and always will be. Incidentally, I do three songs in my newest film, MGM's "Please Don't Eat the Daisies," even though it's a nonmusical comedy. That's like having my cake and eating it, too.

QUIPS AND QUOTES

Uncle Sam's Song

If it be true the sweetest songs
Arise from thoughts that sadden you,
Then I just wrote a rhapsody
To the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

—Aileen FitzPatrick

A man rushed into a newspaper office and demanded to see the sports editor. "Sir," he shouted at the newsman, "you have libeled me! You called me the lightweight champion!"

"But that's true," the sports editor said. "You are Mr. Socko, aren't you?"

"Sure, sure," the man said impatiently, "but it's my brother who's the fighter. I'm a butcher!"

Two doctors met at a medical convention and were comparing notes. "I specialize in nerve treatments," said one.

"Have you had much success?" the other inquired.

"I should say so! When I finished with my last patient, he asked me to loan him $500!"

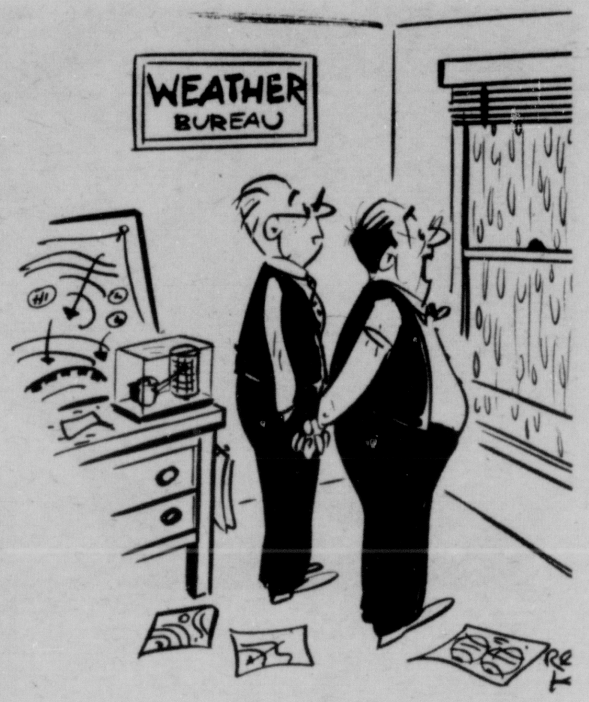
—Al Spong



"Gosh, I wonder when it will ever stop?"

And Aw-aaay I Go!

It's good of friends to draw me maps
That show me how to reach their door.
They work for hours, for days perhaps,
Preparing maps on which I pore.

I'm grateful for the help they give,
For all their graphic information,
And quickly get to where they live
By asking at a service station.

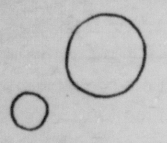
Let's Draw a Horse

By Ann Davidow



To draw a horse that's not a shame,
Is simpler than you think, I claim.

Behold, our horse's head appears.

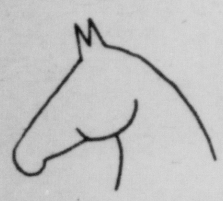
Our little sketch will beautify.



Now erase and we'll have gone
Some extra lines that we had drawn.

A bridle add so we can ride.
This horse is anybody's pride!

Two Motoring Games

By Frances W. Keene

Now!

Here is a game to test your sense of time and distance. It is best played while motoring but might be tried on a train. One player is chosen to start the game. He looks ahead and names something he sees, such as a horse, a bridge, a certain store. Then he closes his eyes. When he thinks the car should be opposite the object, he opens his eyes and says "Now!" at the same time. If he is right, he may be IT again. If not, the player next to him becomes IT.

One Eye

This may be played only after dark while motoring. Players keep a sharp watch for cars with only one light showing. The player who first spies such a car and calls, "One eye!" scores a point. However, if what he thought was a "one eye" turns out to be a motorcycle, he loses one point.

STOP OILY SKIN TO CHECK PIMPLES!

Don't pick, scratch, squeeze or merely "cover them up"

Doctors know that acne or pimples are caused by the germ called the acne bacillus. These germs invade overactive oil glands in the skin, cause blackheads and pus pockets; then your skin "breaks out."

What's needed is (1) to dry up the excessive oil that collects on skin; (2) to destroy acne germs on the skin, and (3) to stop itching and irritation so pimples can heal.

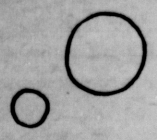
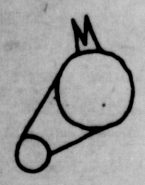
Let's Draw a Horse

By Ann Davidow



To draw a horse that's not a shame,
Is simpler than you think, I claim.



Connect the circles and add ears.
Behold, our horse's head appears.

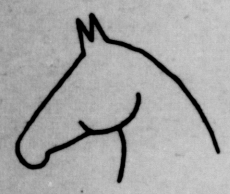
Our little sketch will beautify.



Now erase and we'll have gone
Some extra lines that we had drawn.

A bridle add so we can ride.
This horse is anybody's pride!

Two Motoring Games

By Frances W. Keene

Now!

Here is a game to test your sense of time and distance. It is best played while motoring but might be tried on a train. One player is chosen to start the game. He looks ahead and names something he sees, such as a horse, a bridge, a certain store. Then he closes his eyes. When he thinks the car should be opposite the object, he opens his eyes and says "Now!" at the same time. If he is right, he may be IT again. If not, the player next to him becomes IT.

One Eye

This may be played only after dark while motoring. Players keep a sharp watch for cars with only one light showing. The player who first spies such a car and calls, "One eye!" scores a point. However, if what he thought was a "one eye" turns out to be a motorcycle, he loses one point.

The pause that refreshes Carroll is a change of footgear.

He Hiked from Iowa

IOWA TO ALASKA is some 4,000 miles, but a wiry, bearded man named Vern Carroll knows every step of the way because he recently covered it—on foot.

He went from Dubuque to Fairbanks, a march lasting almost five months, during which he slept under bridges and in culverts and enjoyed such delicacies as moose, porcupine, and wild berries when his store-bought groceries gave out.

"It was a wild, wonderful adventure, and I had a good, rough time of it," says Carroll. "The outdoor life made me feel like a man of 20 again, and I'd do it over if it'd help the boys."

"The boys" of whom the 49-year-old former truck driver speaks are the youngsters who are members of Boys' Clubs of America. Carroll, a volunteer worker in the Dubuque Club, staged his trek to dramatize the need for a club to be established in Alaska, the only state which doesn't have one. Orphaned as a boy himself, Carroll declares, "I've always been interested in kids, and while I've seen evil men I've never met a bad child."

The hiker started from Dubuque with some food, clothing, and camping gear stuffed into a golf cart, but he switched to a shoulder pack on the Alcan Highway. "All along the way people offered to pick me up, but when I explained I was walking in behalf of the Boys' Clubs, they'd wish me well and go ahead," says Carroll. "In fact, the only problem I had was dogs—they're not always as friendly as people!"

His most memorable experience was in the Yukon. Picking berries one day, he glanced up to spy a bear foraging in the same bushes. "I moved on!" he admits. Other times, incessant rains washed out his camp site, and he spent the nights trying to get warm and dry.

"As he goes through life, every man has to take some bitter with the sweet," Carroll wrote the Dubuque Club from Alaska. "When you can do that, it makes a good man out of you, and I know all you lads will be real men some day."

The walk from state No. 29 to state No. 49 already has borne fruit: an Anchorage businessman named Henry Wolff has donated land for Alaska's first Boys' Club, and a number of carpenters have volunteered to erect the building.

Larry Sherry Makes His Own Luck

By ED FITZGERALD

WHEN LARRY SHERRY was a boy growing up in Los Angeles, nobody thought he would ever overcome the effects of two clubfeet to become a professional athlete.

When he was pitching for the Maracaibo club in Venezuela in the winter of 1958-59, trying to master the slider pitch and improve a dismal minor-league record of six victories and 14 defeats, nobody thought he would ever make it to the majors.

And when the Los Angeles Dodgers, desperate for some mound help, called him up from their St. Paul farm team in midseason despite an unimpressive 6-7 record, nobody thought he would turn out to be hero of the '59 World Series.

But though he came out of the blue with a flourish of trumpets and a crashing of drums, Larry Sherry can't be charged with being lucky. Any luck he has enjoyed he's made himself—that's why the Dodgers are betting that he has left oblivion behind him for good.

One of the things the Dodgers like about their newest star is that he's eager for action. He fidgets all the time he's in the bull pen waiting for manager Walt Alston's call; he's edgy until he squares off against the hitter, ready to fire the blazing fast ball he's had all along—and the nifty slider he taught himself down in Venezuela.

But his brother Norm, a third-string catcher for the Dodgers before Larry even got there, thinks it's more than a matter of Larry's pitches. "All of a sudden," he says, "Larry just seemed to get confidence. He wasn't afraid of anybody. He'd come out of that bull pen like it was just a case of burning the ball past them and sitting down. No doubt about it."

"Sherry comes on," one baseball writer says, "like Milton Berle. His conversation is very modest. He's no braggart. But his actions, when he comes in to pitch, are positively flamboyant. He really takes charge out there."

LARRY BEGAN "taking charge" as soon as he whiffed the Los Angeles atmosphere. His seven victories helped enormously as the underdog Dodgers outfought Milwaukee and San Francisco for the National League pennant, whipping the Braves in a play-off series after they had finished the regular season in a tie.

Larry's relief pitching played a big part in winning the first play-off game, but it was in the World Series, against the Chicago White Sox, that the determined youth really took over center stage.

As far as the White Sox were concerned,

His seven victories helped enormously as the underdog Dodgers outfought Milwaukee and San Francisco for the National League pennant, whipping the Braves in a play-off series after they had finished the regular season in a tie.

Larry's relief pitching played a big part in winning the first play-off game, but it was in the World Series, against the Chicago White Sox, that the determined youth really took over center stage.

As far as the White Sox were concerned,

it was Sherry, Sherry everywhere. Alston didn't use him in the first game because Ted Kluszewski's two home runs helped the Sox romp, 11-0. But Larry pitched in the next three games, getting the win for the third. It wasn't his fault that the Dodgers blew the fifth, 1-0; all he did in that one was pinch-hit. He was there, though, when Johnny Podres tired after going the first part of the sixth game, and Larry held off the White Sox the rest of the way.

It was a tremendous hour for the young man who underwent six weeks of surgery in infancy to correct clubfeet caused from a fall his mother suffered just before his birth; who had worn braces until he was 12; and who still wears special orthopedic devices in his shoes.

Larry would be hard pressed to calculate exactly how much money his pitching heroics were worth to him. The Dodgers paid him, as a doubtful rookie, only about $7,500 last season, but his World Series check came to a whopping $11,231.18. The ball club promptly signed him for 1960 at a figure that represented, they said, more than a 100 percent raise. He was the shining star of the winter banquet circuit, earning more than $10,000 for appearances and endorsements. And, as the most valuable player in the Series, he was awarded a white sports car with red leather upholstery.

HE ACCEPTED the car from singer Pat Boone on Pat's television show, then right afterward dashed to the New York garage where the car was stored. For all his importance as a new national hero, he was like an impatient kid dreaming of his first ride on a new Christmas bicycle. It was almost midnight when he got the car, but Larry wrapped his big hands around the wheel, tromped down on the accelerator, and took off for Yankee Stadium. He fiddled with the radio dial until he picked up Bobby Darin singing "Mack the Knife."

"Man," he said, "this is my idea of livin'."

When he swung the car back into the garage, the bored attendant came out to take it. "Hey," he said as the big fellow unwound himself from behind the wheel, "isn't that the car they're going to give to Larry Sherry?"

Larry nodded. "That's it. Nice, huh?"

"I'll say," the attendant said. "That Sherry's got all the luck. I was just readin' in the paper that he's gettin' over 11,000 bucks in World Series money, and now he gets this heap, too. What a lucky guy."

"Yeah," Larry Sherry said, walking away unrecognized but at peace with the world. "He's a lucky guy, all right."

But the truth is that he's made his own luck, and that's the best kind of luck for a man to have.

Carl Furillo and Larry, heroes of the World Series, with the "crystal ball" that helped them lead Dodgers on to victory.

it was Sherry, Sherry everywhere. Alston didn't use him in the first game because Ted Kluszewski's two home runs helped the Sox romp, 11-0. But Larry pitched in the next three games, getting the win for the third. It wasn't his fault that the Dodgers blew the fifth, 1-0; all he did in that one was pinch-hit. He was there, though, when Johnny Podres tired after going the first part of the sixth game, and Larry held off the White Sox the rest of the way.

Back home in Los Angeles, his young wife Sally was hugging their 15-month-old daughter, Suzanne, and thinking excitedly about what they could buy with a winner's share of World Series loot.

It was a tremendous hour for the young man who underwent six weeks of surgery in infancy to correct clubfeet caused from a fall his mother suffered just before his birth; who had worn braces until he was 12; and who still wears special orthopedic devices in his shoes.

Larry would be hard pressed to calculate exactly how much money his pitching heroics were worth to him. The Dodgers paid him, as a doubtful rookie, only about $7,500 last season, but his World Series check came to a whopping $11,231.18. The ball club promptly signed him for 1960 at a figure that represented, they said, more than a 100 percent raise. He was the shining star of the winter banquet circuit, earning more than $10,000 for appearances and endorsements. And, as the most valuable player in the Series, he was awarded a white sports car with red leather upholstery.

HE ACCEPTED the car from singer Pat Boone on Pat's television show, then right afterward dashed to the New York garage where the car was stored. For all his importance as a new national hero, he was like an impatient kid dreaming of his first ride on a new Christmas bicycle. It was almost midnight when he got the car, but Larry wrapped his big hands around the wheel, tromped down on the accelerator, and took off for Yankee Stadium. He fiddled with the radio dial until he picked up Bobby Darin singing "Mack the Knife."

"Man," he said, "this is my idea of livin'."

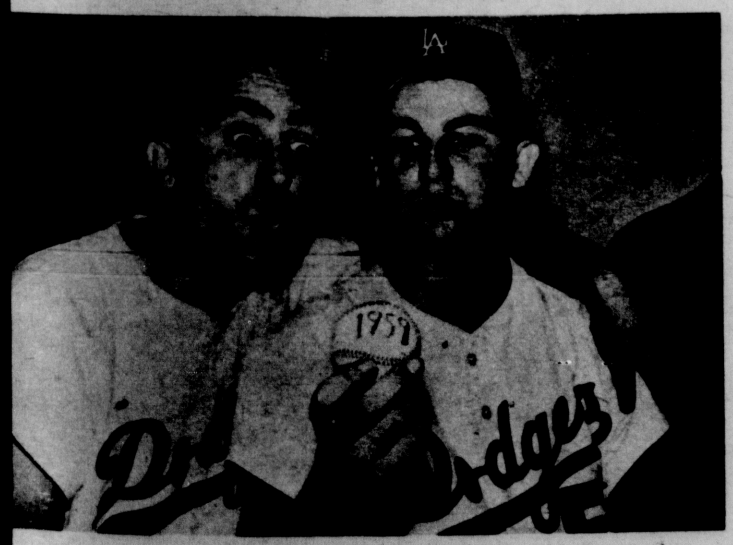
When he swung the car back into the garage, the bored attendant came out to take it. "Hey," he said as the big fellow unwound himself from behind the wheel, "isn't that the car they're going to give to Larry Sherry?"

Larry nodded. "That's it. Nice, huh?"

"I'll say," the attendant said. "That Sherry's got all the luck. I was just readin' in the paper that he's gettin' over 11,000 bucks in World Series money, and now he gets this heap, too. What a lucky guy."

"Yeah," Larry Sherry said, walking away unrecognized but at peace with the world. "He's a lucky guy, all right."

But the truth is that he's made his own luck, and that's the best kind of luck for a man to have.



Carl Furillo and Larry, heroes of the World Series, with the "crystal ball" that helped them lead Dodgers on to victory.
